U. S. Takes New Step To Resume Nuclear Testing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States took a long step Friday toward resuming atmospheric testing of nuclear weapons. It announced formation of a joint task force to arrange and conduct the tests if President Kennedy gives the go-ahead.

This was the fourth of recent moves developing out of Russia's scrapping of the nuclear test moratorium and her series of explosive trials last fall.

Kennedy said on Nov. 2 that Russia's action required that the United States begin preparing for the possibility of resuming tests of nuclear detonations in the atmosphere.

PUSH PLANS

A week ago, Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan agreed during their Bermuda meeting that it was prudent to push plans for such tests.

In the meanwhile, the United States went ahead with a series of underground shots of relatively small size.

The Pentagon said Friday it has established "Joint Task Force 8," to plan, support with men, materials and transportation and to carry out atmospheric testing of nuclear weapons if Kennedy issues the final orders.

Composition of the joint force announced was similar to that used in all previous nuclear tests by the United States—representatives and technicians of the Army, Navy and Air Force.

Maj. Gen. Robert H. Booth, an Army officer who is now head of the Defense Atomic Support Agency of the Pentagon, was assigned over-all control of the task force.

Field commander of the task force is Army Maj. Gen. Alfred D. Starbid. The two deputy commanders are Navy Rear Adm. Lloyd D. Mustin and Air Force Brig. Gen. John S. Samuel

For the present, the set-up calls for the military task force to maintain "appropriate relationships" with the Atomic Energy Commission.

Man Faces Charges In Poison Try

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP) — A prominent Evansville businessman was arrested Friday, charged with sending a box of poisoned candy to an elderly former employe who had named him beneficiary in a $2,000 life insurance policy.

Arrested at his home by U.S. Marshal Richard Jarboe was Ralph Krauss, 53, one of the owners of Krauss Laundry, a longtime Evansville business operated by the Krauss family.

Krauss was arrested under an indictment returned by a federal grand jury in Indianapolis. The indictment charged Krauss tried to poison Emma Elizabeth Miller, 81, a retired employe of the Krauss Laundry now living in the Bethel Nursing Home here.

Krauss, who denied any knowledge of the poisoned candy, was released under $2,000 bond after appearing before U.S. Commissioner Carl Boesecker.

U.S. Atty. Richard P. Stein said in Indianapolis that Krauss had been paying premiums on the insurance policy which Miss Miller had while an employe of the laundry. He said she made Krauss the beneficiary if he would pay the premiums.

Stein said the laundry changed insurance firms in June, 1960, and since the policy was under a group plan, it expired because Miss Miller no longer worked at the laundry. He said the grace period on the policy expired late in July, 1960. The poisoned candy was mailed July 9, of the same year, the attorney said.

Krauss, described by Evansville residents as a "very respected man" in the community, is married and has a married daughter.

State Economy Rise Forecast

BATON ROUGE (AP) — A year-end study shows an optimistic view that Louisiana's economy in 1962 will regain the stature it had before the 1959 business recession.

State officials and sources in industry, labor, business and other components of the economy expressed belief the state is emerging rapidly from the unexpected slump.

The note of optimism matches national forecasts of the best business year ever in this country, which call for a rise of 8 per cent over the 1961 figure of $520 billion in total of goods and services produced.

Provisional Rule Okayed In Dominican

Present Regime To Be Replaced Until Elections

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—The National Assembly ratified the provision state council of government Friday replacing the present Dominican regime.

The action was taken with approval of constitutional reforms creating the provisional council. It is expected to take over Saturday or Sunday.

BALAUGER STAYS

The seven-man council was proposed by President Joaquin Balaguer as a transitional regime until elections are held in this West Indies island republic seeking a new political footing after 30 years of dictatorship by the Trujillo dynasty.

Balaguer will head the council temporarily. He has promised to resign as soon as sanctions imposed on the Dominican Republic by the Organization of American States are removed.

The council will continue in power until February 1963 when a new government is expected to be installed.

Balaguer proposed the state council formula 19 days ago under heavy internal and external pressure to solve the explosive government crisis created by the collapse of the Trujillo dynasty in November.

The proposal was given lukewarm endorsement by the three leading opposition factions — the National Civic Union, the 14th of June group and the Revolutionary party. They limited themselves to say they would not hinder the council's work.

Diplomatic sources here said the sanctions will be removed the moment the council is installed.

Judge Bans Racial Group In Alabama

NAACP Barred Permanently By Order Of Court

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — A judge in state court late Friday ordered the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People permanently banished from doing business in Alabama.

After a three-day hearing which ended earlier Friday, Circuit Court Judge Walter B. Jones ruled that the NAACP "has been and continues to do business" in the state despite a temporary injunction issued more than five years ago.

VIOLATE LAW

He held that the Negro organization operated in Alabama in violation of state law without registering as an out-of-state corporation.

In a three-page written decree, the judge ordered the NAACP and its agents, employes, attorneys "and all persons in active concert or participation" with the organization to refrain from carrying on any intrastate activities.

Before the judge announced his decision, NAACP attorneys said they would appeal if he made the injunction permanent.

The court order banned the NAACP from organizing or controlling branches in Alabama and from exercising any of its corporate functions "except such as

Walker Says U. S. Losing In Cold War

By JOHN CALE
Staff Writer

JACKSON, Miss. — "Paul Revere has made his ride. The enemy is not coming, he is already here. Communism is not winning, we are losing for him."

These remarks came at the climax of a speech by former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker, at a rally held in his honor here Friday night.

The speech was interrupted frequently by cheers and applause.

The Mississippi friends of Gen. Walker organized the rally held in Jackson's city auditorium. Approximately 3,000 persons attended from Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas, Tennessee and Oklahoma.

Walker recently resigned his generalship because of disagreement with national policy.

He was introduced by U. S. Rep. John Bell Williams.

In his opening remarks, Walker said, "Mississippi is a great state and greatest in standing for its own sovereignty. I came here to plant the flag of Texas, my native state, beside the flag of Mississippi. I came to face the Communists on the hottest battlefield in the nation."

Walker was referring to the numerous efforts this year of Freedom Rider groups to stir up disorder in the state.

At the national level, Walker pointed out that leftists recognize and are proud of their capture and control of the Supreme Court.

"Now they are working on Congress."

He cited as an example a statement of Sen. J. William Fulbright of Arkansas, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Com-

ON PARISH ROADS

Huckaby Suggests Work In Summer

Ouachita Parish Engineer Wayne Huckaby suggested to Police Jury members Friday that parish drainage work be done by private contractors next summer, so that both vital road work and drainage can be done during the hot, dry months.

With memories of recent flood conditions still vivid, the eight Jurymen at the purchasing committee meeting yesterday afternoon were in tacit agreement on the plan, with several Jurors giving it strong approval.

During the one-hour discussion, Huckaby explained, "The Police Jury will come out better by letting the major drainage work projects out to contractors, because the proper time to do this work is when the ground is dry and the water is out of the canals."

The parish has to do both asphalt road work and drainage cleaning at the same time — and is faced by the problem of not having enough men or sufficient equipment to do both jobs at once.

Huckaby said that it would work out to the parish's advantage, and in the long run would be cheaper, to take bids and let contractors do the drainage work, so that it could be done properly. The parish still will do minor cleaning work on drainage canals.

Leslie Ham, ward five juror, agreed that mid-summer is the time when the canals can be cleaned out "the cheapest way."

Huckaby said that the parish doesn't have enough money to correct conditions in which practically all low-lying and marginal areas were under water after heavy rains during the past month.

Speaking of several projects discussed during the meeting, he said, "We don't pretend they will solve all drainage problems, but they will improve conditions."

"I don't know that water condi-

Tourists, Citrus Crops In Florida Also Hit By Cold

By United Press International

A 16-inch snow belted Buffalo, N. Y., rare snow and heavy frost nipped tourists and citrus crops in Florida and bitter cold kept a death-dealing grip on the North and Middle West Friday.

Buffalo and its northern suburbs were buffeted by their first major storm of the season. It was tiny in scope — the heavy snow area was only about seven miles wide — but it dumped from 14 to 16 inches of snow.

FLAKES IN FLORIDA

Snow flakes fell in Florida's Tampa Bay resort area for the first time in nearly four years, and the mercury slipped below the freezing level south of Miami.

Cold Canadian air poured down across the nation's midsection. It carried the mercury down to 18 below zero at Bismarck, N. D., 16 below at Pellston Mich., and 1 below as far south as Oneida, Tenn.

The bone-chilling cold and continued snow were blamed for 31 deaths across the nation, including 14 in Indiana alone. New York counted 5 deaths, Tennessee and Texas 4 each. Iowa, Michigan, Ohio and Pennsylvania each had 1 weather-attributed fatality.

The second cold wave in a week plunged into Florida, ending a brief warm-up that brought tourists out in droves Thursday. The Mercury slipped to 31 degrees at

Trucks Fall Into Tide, 2 Missing

MARATHON, Fla. (AP) — A spectacular collision on the Seven-Mile Bridge in the Florida Keys sent two trucks tumbling into a rushing tide Friday and two men were missing. The highway patrol said they either were pinned under wreckage or swept out to sea.

A man and woman who floated free from one vehicle were swept almost a mile out into the Atlantic before being rescued by a Navy helicopter and a private boat.

Patrolman J. W. Carmody said a tractor-trailer carrying four persons and loaded with sod attempted to pass a flatbed towing a fork lift truck on the narrow bridge, a part of the famed Overseas Highway.

The trucks sideswiped and veered away from each other. The flatbed went through the iron railing on the Atlantic Ocean side and crashed in about eight feet of water.

The tractor-trailer tore down more than 100 feet of railing and dropped into 12 feet of water on the Gulf of Mexico side.

Three men in the flatbed—Joe L. Summerson, Miami, the driver, John Tippen and Frank Holmes of South Miami—climbed on top of the truck and awaited rescue.

Lonnie Allen, Miami, driver of the tractor-trailer, and Thomasina Newton, the woman from Belle Clade, rode the tide under a bridge and 4,000 feet out into the Atlantic before the helicopter from the Key West Navy Base picked up Allen. The woman was rescued by a boat.

Waco Blonde Crowned As Cotton Maid

MEMPHIS (AP) — A Texas blonde, Penne Ann Percy of Waco, was named Maid of Cotton here Friday night, topping 21 other cottonbelt beauties.

The panel of seven judges named red-haired Margaret Ann Teas of Nashville, Tenn., first alternate and a Texas brunette, Ethel Ann Glasscock of Lubbock, second alternate.

The decision was a delayed victory for Mrs. James S. Percy, Penne's mother. She tried for the title back in 1941 when she was Anne Green of Hattiesburg, Miss., reaching the finals before being eliminated.

The new maid is the 24th to wear the title.

She succeeds Maid Linda Lackey, a blue-eyed charmer from the University of Mississippi which had four contestants in this year's field of finalists.

TSHOMBE ASKS AID

Katanga Attack By U. N. Charged

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga (AP) — President Moise Tshombe charged that troops of the national Congo army, with the assistance of the United Nations, launched a new attack against north Katanga Friday.

The secessionist president scattered protests and appeals for aid to President, Kennedy, U.N. acting Secretary-General U Thant, the British government and Congo Premier Cyrille Adoula.

There was no confirmation of the attack from U.N. sources.

DENIAL ISSUED

A U. N. spokesman in New York said reports had been received in the last few days of minor skirmishes in the area. But he categorically denied that the U.N. force was participating in any joint military operations with the Congolese, or had given any help to central government forces in the skirmishes.

Tshombe agreed in a meeting with Adoula more than a week ago at Kitona to surrender his independence and recognize the authority of the Leopoldville government, but said later the agreement had to be ratified by the Katanga Assembly.

He reported the new attack at a news conference as the Adoula government and the U.N. Congo

New Year's Death Toll Set At 330

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Amid pleas for restraint behind the wheel and at the bar, Americans began Friday night a long weekend celebration of the arrival of 1962.

Police, clergymen and safety campaigners urged moderation on the part of celebrators as one way of keeping the traffic death toll from becoming a national disgrace. Motorists were asked to use extreme caution over the weekend.

The National Safety Council estimated that 330 persons might die in traffic smashups in the 78-hour period between 6 p.m. local time Friday and midnight of New Year's Day.

Such a toll would fall under the 347 traffic deaths counted by The Associated Press in a survey of the nonholiday period of Dec. 8 to midnight Monday, Dec. 11, an identical 78-hour stretch used for comparative purposes.

Last weekend saw 524 deaths on the streets and highways, the most for a three-day Christmas holiday period since 1955.

HUCKABY PRAISED

Jury Enters 1962 With Nice Surplus

The Ouachita Parish Police Jury enters 1962 with a $22,000 surplus — a far cry from the $42,000 deficit of one year ago.

Jury President M. W. Montgomery Friday credited parish Engineer Wayne Huckaby with getting the parish back on its financial feet.

"It was the good work of Mr. Huckaby in getting us $42,000 in Act 128 money from the state," he explained.

The extra funds will be spent on parish roads early in 1962. "We will need the money for general road maintenance during the critical months of January through March," said Huckaby.

The engineer, who left employment with the state to take the post of parish official last June, found that Ouachita could place $42,000 worth of gravel on parish roads and be re - imbursed for the entire amount by the state. The work was completed recently.

He revealed plans for keeping the budget on a sound basis yesterday, by allotting only a certain amount of money each month, with expenditures budgeted on a monthly basis."

The jury ended 1960 by borrowing some $42,000 on this year's funds, when it ran out of money before the year ended.

"We're so much better off starting the 1962 business," said Montgomery. "We've made up for last year's borrowing, didn't have to borrow any this year, and have a surplus."

The road maintenance budget involved will be $622,000 for next year. The general fund, which was in good shape both last year and during 1961, is budgeted at $414,630 for 1962.

Commenting conservatively on the situation, Huckaby said, "The financial condition of the road fund obviously will be better in 1962 than it was in 1961.

"Expenditures will be budgeted on a monthly basis. This was not done before."

Wild Rioting Touched Off By Decision

PARIS (AP) — Boldly defying right-wing extremists, President Charles de Gaulle Friday night announced intentions of withdrawing the bulk of the nearly half-million French troops stationed in rebellion-torn Algeria. Rightists responded with bloody riots, bombings and noisy demonstrations in France and Algeria through the night and Saturday.

Armed bands of Europeans and French military patrols clashed in wild rioting in Oran, the big western Algerian seaport. Two young Jewish boys and a French marine were reported killed in the fighting with guns and grenades.

BOMBS EXPLODED

As De Gaulle repeated his determination to come to terms with Algerian nationalists, explosions of plastic bombs crippled or shook radio and TV relay posts at Bordeau, Toulouse, Nimes and Toulon, in France.

In Oran, the right-wing secret army organization jammed his broadcast announcement and put on a bitterly anti-De Gaulle broadcast of their own.

In France's Libourne region, the De Gaulle broadcast was cut abruptly when a bomb knocked over a relay tower. A similar blast at Muret crippled the program in the Toulouse region.

A heavy charge of plastic explosive — favorite weapon of the secret army—shook but failed to interrupt the program at Nimes. Four blasts at Avignon failed to halt the telecast there. But another plastic bomb explosion severely damaged the television relay post outside Toulon, interrupt-

Marsala's Car Found By Police

Authorities Friday intensified the search for Vincent Marsala, spurred by reports from Alexandria that the greying 50-year-old Monroe businessman's car, missing with him since Tuesday, had been found.

The car, a 1961 model white Renault Dauphine, was noted by city police in downtown Alexandria where it evidently had been parked sometime Wednesday night or Thursday morning.

It bore tickets for overparking, dated both Thursday and Friday.

Officers said the keys were in the car—the motor was reported in perfect running order. It will get a thorough going over, police said, for possible clues as to the whereabouts of its owner.

Sources said there were no indications of violence.

Asked if the car would be returned to Monroe, a police spokesman asserted the department's primary interest was "finding Marsala." Presumably it will be brought back here by the family when police finish their investigation of the vehicle.

Marsala, a general contractor who lives at 2108 Pargoud Blvd., was seen last by his wife when he left for work Tuesday at 7 a.m. He has a general contracting firm located at Selman Field.

Checking the business, after Marsala was reported missing late that day police found the door locked but the fires burning and the phone off the hook. Marsala's glasses were found on the floor of his office and his wallet on the floor in the back part of the warehouse.

mission waited to see if he intends to carry out the pact.

Tshombe said two battalions and two commando companies of the Congo army attacked villages around Kongolo, about 400 miles north of Elisabethville and 40 miles south of the Kivu provincial border. The United Nations helped mount the attack, he charged, by providing transport and attacking Kongolo with Indian Canberra jet bombers.

The United Nations last week agreed to accept 1,000 Congo army men into the U.N. army. Reports from Leopoldville said Friday, however, that an advance guard of 90 men to have been flown three days ago to Kamina, 250 miles southwest of Kongolo, had not yet moved. The Adoula government apparently was having second thoughts about putting its soldiers under U.N. command.

The Katanga Assembly is due to meet here Jan. 3 to consider ratification of the Kitona agreement with Adoula. Some informed Katanga sources believe it is likely to agree in principle to the Kitona agreement — provided the Congo's provisional constitution is modified to give Katanga wide home-rule powers.

It is almost certain to do whatever Tshombe bids it do. In theory it consists of 60 elected deputies, plus appointed chiefs, with 27 of the deputies from Tshombe's Conakat party and 25 from the opposition Balubakat. But eight seats never have been filled and the opposition deputies long ago walked out.

Tshombe's gesture in sending seven Katangan deputies to the National Assembly appeared to indicate some hope of cooperation with the Leopoldville government. Only one deputy left for Leopoldville Thursday to join the six already there, however, instead of the nine that had been expected to join the advance party.

In his protest to Kennedy, Tshombe charged that U.S. Ambassador Edmund Gullion was trying to exert pressure on the United Nations to renew warfare in Elisabethville if the Katanga Assembly fails to ratify the Kitona agreement. Tshombe and his spokesmen have charged that Gullion, who persuaded Tshombe to go to Kitona, virtually dictated the pact. Adoula has denied Gullion interfered.

In Washington, the State Department sharply repudiated as untrue charges by Tshombe that Gullion interfered in Congo peace talks. The statement also called on Tshombe to carry out his agreement to reintegrate Katanga into the Congo.

In his message to Thant, Tshombe strongly protested that some U.N. units were carrying out provocative actions and complained of their general conduct.

It was 25 at Tallahassee, 27 at Gainesville, 28 at Pensacola and 29 at Jacksonville. Palm Beach had a 38-degree reading. The low at Miami and St. Petersburg were 41.

Agricultural officials said frost damage was believed slight, but forecasters said continued cold might bring a nippy New Year's weekend for Orange Bowl festivities.

A made-to-order snow storm coated northern and central New England ski areas with up to 8 inches of fresh snow and resort owners prepared for record weekend crowds.

Mountain dwellers in the central and southern Appalachians were wading through up to 10 inches of snow. In Michigan's upper peninsula, Houston had 19 inches on the ground and snow was still falling.

Court Upholds School Teacher Mumps Award

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—An epidemic of mumps is an abnormal hazard for a teacher, the Appellate Division, Third Department, ruled unanimously Friday.

The court upheld a Workmen's Compensation Board award of $1,584 to Miss Margot McDonough, who contracted the disease in 1958, while teaching first grade in the Whitney Point Central School District, Broome County. She developed encephalitis subsequently and was unable to work for nine months.

The school district and the American Mutual Liability Insurance Co. appealed the award.

The court's opinion, written by associate Justice J. Clarence Herlihy, commented that the "facts here are novel and without precedent."

"Here we have an abnormal condition—an epidemic—of sufficient gravity to constitute the disease an accidental injury," Herlihy wrote. "The claimant was exposed to an unusual amount of germs during a specified time while teaching.

British Advise Tshombe Congo Accord Is Best

LONDON (UPI) — Foreign Secretary Lord Home has written Katanga President Moise Tshombe urging him to be patient and try his utmost to reach accord with the Central Congolese government in Leopoldville, it was learned Friday.

In a message to Tshombe in Elisabethville last Wednesday, Home said that "the whole future of the prosperity of the Congo" depends on a settlement between Tshombe and Central Premier Cyrille Adoula.

Referring to the Tshombe-Adoula agreement signed at Kitona last week providing for an end to Katanga's 19-month secession, Home said:

"We believe you were right to make this agreement. . .and we greatly hope you will make every effort to convince your people that the best future for the Katangese people lies in close cooperation with the other provinces and the Central government within the framework of the LOI fundamentale (the fundamental law or constitution of the Congo)."

Air Travelers Are Exposed To Smallpox

LONDON (AP)—A four-nation alarm went out Friday to persons who came in contact with an airline passenger suffering from smallpox.

The traveler, Ismet Khan, 24, flew from his native Karachi to London on Christmas Day. He was on board an Air France plane for the first leg of the journey and changed at Paris to a Greek airline.

At Britain's isolation center for smallpox cases in Dartford, Khan was said to be "very ill and under observation."

Authorities in Tehran and Rome, where the Air France plane stopped en route to the French capital, were advised of the danger.

Italian health authorities ordered the vaccination of all personnel at the Leonardo da Vinci airfield who came into contact with passengers of the Air France flight.

The scene was repeated at Orly Field in Paris. There scores of hostesses, customs men, salesgirls and other employes crowded into the airport medical department for their shots.

A spokesman for Olympic Airways, the Greek national line which carried Khan from Paris to London, said all personnel at London airport who might have been infected had been vaccinated.

A nationwide press and radio appeal went out for Khan's 40 fellow passengers on the Olympic airliner to come forward, although most were believed to have carried the prescribed international vaccination certificates.

Outside London airport, Khan was believed to have come into contact with about 30 persons before he went to a hospital and asked for treatment. Police quickly traced 26 of these. They were still looking for three other Pakistanis who shared an airport cab with Khan, and also the cab driver.

Wild Rioting Touched Off By Decision

ing the telecast in that area.

De Gaulle's announcement that the Algerian troops would be withdrawn during the coming year brought thousands of Europeans in Oran into the streets demonstrating their anger.

Gun shots rang out and grenades exploded in a running fight in Oran's Jewish quarter.

An uncounted number of persons was wounded.

Other clashes erupted in the Oran suburbs, climaxing a night of tension that began with a protest shut down by the European community during DeGaulle's speech.

After the speech, thousands emerged at Oran to join a deafening "casseroles concert," beating out the five-beat "Al-ger-ie Francaise" Algeria is French of the rightist secret army organization. Motorists joined in with horns and blinked their lights to the beat.

De Gaulle's decision to bring the army back to France also served notice on the Soviet Union that French troops will be available should the Berlin crisis erupt into actual conflict.

The president, speaking on radio and TV on a year-end program, coupled his announcement with a prediction of an accord with the Algerian rebels which would keep close ties between France and an independent Algeria.

De Gaulle also foresaw probable negotiations with Russia on the future of Germany and other world problems, and he pledged France's "constructive participation." But he conditioned this on Kremlin relaxation of world tensions by ceasing its threats and menaces. He also said that such talks should lead Europe back into balance, and not merely be the machinery for extending Soviet control of the Continent.

"In any case," De Gaulle said, "the coming year will be one for the regrouping in Europe, and the modernization of the greatest part of the French army."

The withdrawal, already begun with the transfer of two divisions from Algeria to eastern France in recent months, is to be speeded up. The president said two other divisions and several air force units will begin to move from Algeria to France next month, and others will follow.

French army strength now in Algeria is estimated at 400,000 troops, plus air force and various supporting units, most of them combat fit and hardened by years of guerrilla warfare against the Algerian nationalists. Some experts rate the French army, man for man, as the best in the Western world, although its equipment is admittedly out of date.

De Gaulle obviously had this in mind with his promise to modernize the army in the coming year. This may also have referred to his plans for an independent French nuclear striking force.

The president's speech seems certain to draw the ire of the European settlers in Algeria who long ago forced Paris governments to shift the full strength of French arms to North Africa to protect Europeans from the Algerian rebels.

De Gaulle's announcement was thus a new defiance of the right-wing clandestine secret army organization which has been fighting the president's self-determination policies with plastic bomb attacks, assassinations and overt calls for armed resistance against the French government.

In effect, De Gaulle appeared to be telling the European extremists that if they defy the government they can no longer count on its protection.

At the same time, De Gaulle seemed to be telling the nationalists that this is proof of his desire to reach a full settlement with them on the basis of eventual Algerian independence.

This, in any case, was how it was interpreted in both camps.

Europeans in Algeria expressed profound disappointment mixed with rage. Throughout Algiers Europeans were telling one another this theme, in various paraphrases: That's it! Henceforth we can only count on ourselves!

At rebel headquarters in Tunis, Algerian nationalist sources termed the president's announcement good, and said it shows De Gaulle really intends to pave the way for a peaceful settlement of the rebellion—now in its eighth year.

Former Sheriff Is Sentenced For Burglary

BRIGHTON, Colo. (AP)—Robert M. Roberts, 40, former sheriff of Adams County, was sentenced to the state prison Friday for burglary and conspiracy.

Dist. Judge Addison Gooding ordered him to serve two concurrent five- to six-year terms.

Roberts was implicated in the lengthy police investigation which has led to the suspensions of 42 policemen in nearby Denver with burglary charges filed against them. Many of the former officers are serving penitentiary terms.

Roberts was accused of being the ringleader of a gang of police burglars operating among supermarkets north of Denver while he was sheriff.

His attractive brunette wife, Mickey, mother of seven, burst into tears when the sentences were announced.

Judge Gooding said he realized that Roberts "and his family are faced with disaster, but it is disaster of his own contrivance."

Six other grand jury indictments charging burglary, conspiracy and accepting a bribe, are on file against Roberts.

Walker Says U. S. Losing In Cold War

mittee, who has said that foreign policy should be kept from the people.

The former general called on every public official and member of the armed services to re-evaluate the oath of allegiance. He pointed out this oath is to "God for America and her Constitution, not to any man - made international body."

"The United Nations monster has split our oath. Recently I saw troops on the one hand in Berlin ready to fight the Communists in East Germany, while at a nearby airstrip, our airplanes stood ready to ferry United Nations troops to fight the anti - communists in Katanga."

He told the audience, "our national sovereignty rests on your responsibility to interpret releases from our various news media. You in Mississippi should understand this. You are the most lied-about state in the Union.

"Congress is our fundamental policy instrument, according to the Constitution. We have a constant record of failure in foreign policy since the end of World War II.

"Congress must investigate these foreign policy failures over the past 16 years."

In commenting on censorship of the military, Walker said this is not an honest atttempt to keep the military out of politics, but a means of forcing government agencies to conform to internationalist one - world dogma.

He also said this conformity was the fundamental mission of the Peace Corps on the international front.

"Out Potomac policy has sent troops half - way around the world to fight anti - communists in Katanaga province, but has done nothing against a Red goon boasting 90 miles away in Cuba," Walker declared.

The former general also warned of the receipt of Russian arms in Mexico and of the possible erection of an Iron Curtain along the Rio Grande in the near future.

Walker's speech carried strong religious overtones and said that America's principal weapons are religion, family unity, individual and states rights and freedom under the Constitution.

He pointed to the strength of the American right to bear arms and warned that international disarmament included nto only nuclear weapons and military armaments but personal firearms as well.

He said in the final analysis America's strength may rest with the right of individuals to possess firearms.

Walker pointed out that in every country seized by the communists, personal firearms were first ordered registered, then confiscated by the government.

Judge Bans Racial Group In Alabama

may be protected by the interstate commerce clause" of the federal Constitution.

Jones took note in his formal decree that the U.S. Supreme Court ordered a hearing on the state's request for a permanent injunction on or before Jan. 2.

"This directive of the U.S. Supreme Court prevents this state court at this time from writing a full opinion in the case," Jones said.

"This court does now reserve the right at a future date to state in an opinion its full and complete findings of fact and its rulings on the law in this case," he added.

In his brief decision, however, Jones did conclude that the hearing produced what he called "overwhelming" testimony that the NAACP had been operating illegally in Alabama, both before and after his original temporary restraining order.

The temporary injunction, which was dissolved by the permanent order, went into effect in June 1956.

State's attorneys, who five years ago got a temporary injunction against the NAACP, asked for a permanent ouster on the grounds that:

—The NAACP operated in Alabama contrary to law without registering as an out-of-state corporation.

—It fomented racial strife with activities detrimental to the public good.

—The Negro organization has continued to function in the state, under another name, despite the temporary restraining order which has existed since June 1, 1956.

Negro attorneys, in their closing arguments, charged that the only purpose in seeking to oust the NAACP was to punish it for "seeking to change our way of life" by demanding racial equality.

Said Arthur Shores, Birmingham, "Politicians have been using the NAACP for a whipping boy for seven years (since the Supreme Court school segregation decision in May 1954).

"Instead of looking for issues which would advance the interests of the state, all they had to do was call out that the NAACP was against the public policy of the state."

But, he continued, "Alabama is a part of a union of states, and the public policy of the Union and the worldwide public policy under the United Nations is that all men are entitled to equal treatment. Alabama must change in order to keep up with a changing world, and politicians must stop blinding unthinking people into the belief that the NAACP is some agent of a foreign power."

Huckaby Suggests Work In Summer

tions could be so bad in the hills," said Leland T. Carpenter of ward two. "In ward six, the water was running down the roads."

A. E. Montgomery of ward 10 noted that the water backed up into houses.

Huckaby recommended that $3000 be alloted for ward 10 drainage improvements in Lakeshore during 1962.

"It is an unfortunate condition," said L. U. Fourmy, ward 10, "that all water from Lakeshore goes to the (Highway 80) underpass and the drainage structures are not large enough to carry it. So the water backs up."

W. O. Roberts, ward seven, commented that "it was a great mistake" to let homebuilders "put in culverts that are too small."

Huckaby said that a concrete drainage pipe serving Bayou Oaks and Lakewood Estates washed out during the heavy rains, and that the parish will have to replace the pipe which had been installed by the subdivision developer.

"We'll start over again with metal pipes costing about $1800 to correct the condition," he said.

Hamm said that the home-buying public would be wise to inspect houses during rainy seasons, rather than during the dry summer, before purchasing.

"Why does the home-buying public fall for a house built on a slab on flat ground?" he asked. "They think they are buying bargains, and then when it rains, the water comes into their houses."

"The rule around here," said Huckaby, "is that if the land is not higher than 75 feet above sea level, it will overflow during heavy rains."

He said that one remedy which will be tried in Lakeshore next year will be subsurface drainage. The culverts will be built under the road, on a limited extent, and water will be drained into Bayou DeSiard.

Buckhorn Bend property owners who want the jury to improve drainage conditions are asked to reserve a right-of-way and not plant on it, so the contractors and machinery can get in there and clean out the waterways next summer.

Discussing the city of Monroe's request that the Jury clean out Young's Bayou, ward seven juror W. O. Roberts suggested that the parish ask the state Department of Public Works to help out on this and some other drainage work.

Both Fourmy and Huckaby said that a joint project with the city might work well, also, since the job is so large that the parish cannot do it with its labor and equipment.

8 Advisers Are Chosen By U Thant

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Acting Secretary-General U Thant announced Friday appointment of an advisory group of eight U.N. undersecretaries to help guide executive operation of the world organization.

He acted in accordance with a election Nov. 3 to fill out the unexpired term of the late Dag Hammarskjold. He said then he would name a limited number of principal advisers and consult them on important issues.

NEW FIGURE

In deciding to include eight men in the group, Thant came up with a new figure, one never mentioned in the weeks of negotiations between U.S. Delegate Adlai E. Stevenson and Soviet Delegate Valerian A. Zorin. They had talked of various numbers from three to seven, but had failed to agree.

The eight named by Thant include three newly appointed undersecretaries, Godfrey K. J. Amachree, solicitor general of Nigeria; Ambassador Omar Loutfi, of the United Arab Republic; and Jiri Nosek, deputy foreign minister of Czechoslovakia.

They will serve as principal advisers, along with five present undersecretaries. These are Dr. Ralph J. Bunche of the United States, Georgy P. Akradev of the Soviet Union, Phillippe de Seynes of France, C. V. Narasimhan of India and Hernane Tavares do Sa of Brazil.

Altogether they represent eight regions—Latin America, Africa, Asia, Eastern Europe, Western Europe, the Middle East, the United States and Soviet Union. In previous speculation, the Middle East had not been mentioned.

The whole idea of establishing a board of principal advisers grew out of Soviet demands for a troika arrangement under which Communist, Western and nonaligned nations would have an equal voice in running the U.N. Secretariat.

relatives who were in the boat with him swam to shore but could find no trace of the boy. After they reached shore and could not find the youth they walked about a mile to another camp police said.

Police reported that the water was 15 feet deep and 200 yards across at the point of drowning.

An official said that the police received the call about 5:30 a.m. and a rescue unit was disptached.

The boy's body was found about 9 a.m. Friday.

JFK GETS WARNING

Attack On Goa Endangers Peace

PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — President Kennedy Friday received a warning from Adlai E. Stevenson that inability of the United Nations Security Council to deal with the Indian attack on Goa could lead to serious consequences for world peace.

The report from Stevenson, U.S. ambassador to the U.N., reached the Chief Executive along with a much more heartening message—expert opinion that his father, former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy, is showing "marked improvement" from the effects of a Dec. 19 paralytic stroke.

The optimistic medical report was given Kennedy in a conference with Dr. Howard A. Rusk, director of the Institute of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation called from New York to consult on the elder Kennedy's condition.

After talking with Rusk, the President met with his chief counsel, Theodore C. Sorenson, and received an intelligence briefing from his military aide, Maj. Gen. Chester V. Clifton. At midday, the Chief Executive embarked in the White House yacht, Honey Fitz, for a brief cruise in nippy, but sunny weather.

Late Friday, the President called another meeting of top White House advisers to discuss his forthcoming legislative program. His conferees were Sorensen, budget director David E. Bell, Myer Feldman, Sorenson's deputy, and Lawrence O'Brien, chief White House liason man with Congress.

In addition to the Stevenson report on the first part of the 16th U.N. General Assembly session, Kennedy received and accepted the resignation of Gen. C. P. Cabell (USAF) as deputy director of Central Intelligence, effective Jan. 31. The White House disclaimed knowledge of a report Cabell might be succeeded by Clifton.

The Chief Executive Friday also announced his selection of C. Allan Stewart as new Ambassador to Venezuela, succeeding Teodoro Moscoso who resigned several months ago to become regional director of the Agency for International Development (AID) for Latin America. Stewart, a former newspaperman who joined the foreigh service in 1947, is now charge d'affaires in Caracas and had a prominent role in Kennedy's recent visit to Venezuela.

Stevenson's report was largely a review of the U.N. highlights in the recent assembly session. The chief U.S. delegate was pleased by the vote against seating Communist China and what he regarded as hopeful news from the Congo. He said, however, discussion of India-Goa must be in "a more sober vein."

Stevenson told Kennedy in a lengthy letter that the armed Indian attack on the Portuguese enclave of Goa and subsequent inability of the Security Council to deal with this force quickly and decisively showed a "dangerous tendency of nations to apply one law in one part of the world or toward one group of states, and a different law to others."

Mobilization Stepped Up By Indonesia

JAKARTA, Indonesia (UPI) — Indonesia Friday stepped up its mobilization of possible invasion forces for Dutch West New Guinea although indications were growing that a diplomatic solution would be sought for the dispute.

President Sukarno met again with his "liberation" operations staff. A well - informed Army source said more than 100,000 former rebels have volunteered to join the action. The Navy's information chief denied Dutch claims that a beachhead invasion of New Guinea would be impossible. A standby fleet of merchant vessels was assembled.

But a high foreign ministry official said privately that Indonesia must await the outcome of the Jan. 2 parliamentary session in The Netherlands before taking further action. A newspaper which reflects foreign ministry views suggested "a little more patience."

It was believed here that only Dutch Prime Minister Dr. Jan. Eduard de Quay could head fruitful new negotiations with Indonesia, because Foreign Minister Dr. Joseph M. A. H. Luns is considered too inflexible by Indonesia.

The newspaper Indonesian Herald criticized parliamentary demands for confiscation of all Dutch enterprise and business stocks, advising a "policy of an alive branch while keeping our powder dry."

"With a little more patience, the policy of conciliation in strength may well bear the desired results," it said. Carrying out the confiscation might strengthen Luns' hand just when cabinet and party strength is diminishing, it added.

In the Hague, the Dutch government was reported to have made several diplomatic overtures to determine Indonesian readiness for negotiations. But informed sources said Indonesia has replied to all probing with a demand that its sovereignty over the territory be recognized as a prerequisite for any talks.

Frugal Farmer Leaves Fortune To Government

OGALLALA, Neb. (AP)—A frugal wheat and cattle farmer who died in his unheated, unpainted house has left an estimated $250,000 to $300,000 to the U.S. government, it was learned Friday.

"I am grateful to my country for the blessings of freedom it has given to me and for the opportunity to acquire, hold and own property," Esley H. Sproat, 64, said in the will he made 18 years ago.

Sproat died Dec. 20 on the western Nebraska farm his parents had homesteaded and where he had lived all his life. His closest survivors were cousins.

George Hastings, Grant, Neb., attorney who is Sproat's executor, said after Sproat's parents died there had been a dispute between Sproat and other relatives.

Sproat left all his real and personal property "to the United States of America" because "that way they'll all have some," he told Hastings.

Grant said Sproat had $136,500 in government bonds and six quarter sections of good wheat land That is 960 acres.

The little farmhouse where Sproat was found dead had no heating system, only a coal-burning kitchen range It was without electricity or running water. Sprout owned a 1930 radio and a 1953 model car.

Hunting Mishap Fatal For Man

HATTIESBURG, Miss. (AP) — A 45-year-old Pascagoula shipyard worker was killed Friday in a hunting accident near the home of his parents where he and his family were spending the holidays.

Forrest County Sheriff Bob Waller identified the victim as Victor Hancock. Waller said Hancock's 10-year-old son, Keneth Ray, and a nephew, David Harrington, 15, of Petal witnessed the accident.

The boys told the sheriff they were hunting with Hancock about two miles from the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Spurgeon P. Hancock, Hattiesburg.

Their dog apparently treed a squirrel and Hancock leaned his 410-gauge shotgun against a tree and started shaking a vine in an attempt to dislodge the squirrel.

The dog hit his gun and when Hancock grabbed the shotgun, it went off. Waller said the shot hit the man in the mouth, killing him instantly.

Goodfellows Give Joy

Once more the Goodfellows have done a magnificent job of spreading joy and happiness at Christmastime to those in need.

A record sum of almost $6,000 was contributed by Goodfellows from every walk of life. About 385 packages, containing food, clothing and toys, were given out to needy families in the Twin City area on the Friday and Saturday before Christmas.

No organization in the world is more unselfish than the Goodfellows and none spends a larger percentage of its collections for actual donations to the needy. The Goodfellows have no paid employes and no overhead expenses, so the entire fund goes toward the purchase of items and gifts for the needy. In addition to money, there are a good many donations of toys and other articles.

In the Twin City area the Goodfellows are sponsored by the Monroe News-Star and World, by B. B. Martin, Jack Hesketh and a number of other individuals and organizations and are assisted by city officials of Monroe and West Monroe.

All money is collected and deposited in the bank by the Monroe News-Star and Morning World, with a strict accounting of receipts. All purchases and preparation of gifts and distribution are made by the Goodfellow organization, led by Messrs. Martin and Hesketh. The newspapers spend nothing and buy nothing but issue checks in the name of the Goodfellows to cover purchases.

All work in the Goodfellow organization is voluntary. Some of the leaders devote many hours to this effort and they are assisted by a large number of volunteers who help in the preparation and delivery of the packages. Assistance in making the deliveries is provided by the two cities.

This year, as in many previous successful years, the Goodfellows wish to thank, with deep appreciation, all those who contributed to this worthy cause and all those who lent their time and effort toward making this worthy project a big success.

Wind Changing Course

When an outdoors man wets his finger in his mouth and holds it up, he is trying to find out which way the wind is blowing. Of course, if it is blowing hard enough, he doesn't need to do that. That is about the way it is with the conservative trend that is sweeping the United States. Signs are so plentiful that a man hardly needs to wet his finger.

One of the strongest signs nowadays, however, is in the matter of books.

Newest fad of the conservatives is anti-communist book stores. They are springing up all over the country, just as the communist stories did in the 1930's. They are real money-makers, as are the authors who are capitalizing on the conservative wave.

Although reportedly never reviewing in any of the major newspapers, W. Cleon Shousen's "The Naked Communist" sell up to 1,000 copies a day and is now in the 11th printing in a Salt Lake City publishing house. Skousen, a former F.B.I. agent, is a leader of "Project Alert" in the Los Angeles area.

Major General Edwin Walker's resignation statement, put on sale, sold out in one month even though 150,000 copies were printed.

The conservative weekly newspaper, "Human Events," has almost doubled its 44,000 circulation of a year ago.

In handling sales of all kinds of anti-communist literature, a major distribution house in New York City will number its sales at almost two million copies.

Another indication of the conservative trend is that conservative clubs in college are now becoming more popular than the leftist clubs which flourished for some years after World War II.

The trend now is toward conservatism and it is time for the leftists and one-worlders to go into hiding.

Serving Two Masters

If called upon to vote on whether General Edwin A. Walker owed first allegiance to the United States and to the American army, which he had taken an oath to serve faithfully, or to the United Nations, which is now dominated by communists, how would the people of this country vote? We believe that, with the exception of a few leftists, beatniks and wild-eyed one-worlders, the people would say almost unanimously he owed his first allegiance to his own country and to its army.

General Walker said his resignation was forced because he could not serve two masters and that he believed a house divided against itself would fall.

In making this statement, General Walker said:

"Today, our relationship and subordination to the United Nations puts every man signing the oath (of allegiance to the army) under a double standard. We are sworn to defend America but have to abide by U.N. decisions. Under these conditions, the oath becomes falsified and fictitious. I could no longer serve in uniform and be a collaborator with this release of our sovereignty to the U.N.

Scarcely recovered from their first shock over the resignation of General Walker because he was removed from his command and embarrassed for his attacks on communism, American citizens are shocked anew to learn that the removal of the general was forced because of United Nations objections to him.

Russia has laughed up its sleeve many times at the United States but never more than when the Russian-bossed United Nations forced the resignation of a top officer in the American army. This was comparable with the situation in which Russia and the United Nations forced the United States to fight against its democratic friend, the Republic of Katanga, because Russia wanted to compel Katanga to join the group of Congo nations which were uniting.

While the United States follows blindly any course mapped out by the United Nations and the Soviet Union, as the chief boss of that organization, Russia, with a single veto vote, kills any United Nations action against India when that country becomes an open aggressor against Portuguese colonies.

On the one hand, the United States provides most of the men, munitions and money for an attack upon a little country that is merely fighting for its right to independence and on the other abides by a Russia veto against interfering with open aggression by India's fake-neutralist Nehru.

We believe the people of the United States want first allegiance to their own country. We believe they want their officials to give first allegiance to the United States and not to the United Nations.

If Russia's veto has had the effect of killing the United Nations, we will be better off because then our officials, who have been prodigal sons in the fictitious country of the United Nations may return their chief allegiance to their own country.

Nixon And Miller At Odds

Republican National Chairman Chides Former Vice President For Turning Down Speech in Washington

Former Vice President Richard Nixon and Republican National Chairman William Miller are having quite a sharp hassle.

It's over Nixon's reluctance to address a GOP gathering in Washinton.

On February 1, the National Committee is sponsoring some 35 fund - raising dinners throughout the country; most of them at $100 a plate. Purpose is to pay off upwards of $500,000 in debts from the 1960 presidential campaign, and to build up a campaign chest for the crucial 1962 congressional elections.

Former President Eisenhower, spending the winter at Palm Springs, Calif., has agreed to top the list of speakers at the Los Angeles dinner, expected to be attended by more than 5,000 $100-a plate guests.

Chairman Miller wants Nixon to be the main attraction at the Washington dinner. But the 1960 standard - bearer has balked.

Nixon is insisting on addressing a dinner in California, where he is an increasingly hotly - embattled candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination. Finally, Miller telephoned him and spoke his mind bluntly.

"Your uncooperative attitude is very curious," said Miller. "I just can't understand it. After all, what we are largely trying to do is to pay off a very considerable deficit that was incurred in behalf of your candidacy. It seems to me the least you can do is help us in every way you can."

"I'm very eager to do that," insisted Nixon. "I've always cooperated as best I can. But I don't think Washington is an advisable choice. I think I can help a lot more here at home."

But Miller doesn't see it that way. He and other party leaders are strongly pressing Nixon to change his mind.

So far he hasn't. Whether he will remain to be seen.

LIGHTED FUSE — General Douglas MacArthur is being given the chance to have his say on the explosive issue of "muzzling" military officers.

Whether he will or not is still unknown.

The Senate Armed Services Investigating Committee, headed by Senator John Stennis, D., Miss., has invited the World War II Pacific commander to present his views either in person or in a written statement.

MacArthur has not replied as yet. But committeemen believe he won't pass up this opportunity.

They base that on hints he dropped to committee agents who conferred with MacArthur on the matter in New York. He indicated he would be willing to answer questions propounded by the committee.

The Far East battle commander also intimated he still feels strongly about Truman Administration policies in the Korean war, and may speak out on that.

Senator Stennis now plans to open the committee's public hearings on January 22. They have twice been postponed, and there's no certainty they won't be again.

One reason is that no decision has been reached on who will be the first witness.

The Administrations would like ex - Major General Edwin Walker to be summoned.

Senator Stroum Thurmond, D. S. C., who sparked the dynamite-loaded investigation, is urging the committee to first dig into government censorship and to call Walker later.

A number of prominent State and Defense Department officials and high - ranking military officers are slated to testify.

They include General George Decker, Army Chief of Staff; Lieutenant General Arthur Trudeau, Army head of research and development; Admiral Arleigh Burke, retired Chief of Naval Operations; Roger Tubby, Assistant Secretary of State for Public Affairs; Arthur Sylvester, Assistant Defense Secretary for Public Affairs; and Adam Yarmolinsky, special assistant to Defense Secretary McNamara.

POLITICALS —Despite those reports about a close contest for Majority Leader of the House, insiders are offering 3 to 1 odds that Representative Carl Albert, Okla., will win hands - down. He has 172 pledges votes — 40 more than he needs to win over Representative Richard Bolling, D. Mo. Friends of Bolling are hinting he is making this race in order to become leader of the so - called Democratic Study Group, an informal organization of liberals. Numbering around 70, they are now headed by Representative Chet Holifield, D., Calif., chairman of the Joint Atomic Committee, who is supporting Albert. This year has been an extremely active one for Vice President Lyndon Johnson. Since his inauguration last January, the Texan has made official visits to 15 countries in all parts of the world; delivered more than 50 important speeches; received seven honorary degrees from U. S. and foreign universities; and entertained at his ranch Chancellor Adenauer of West Germany, President Ayub Khan of Pakistan, and camel driver Bashir Ahmed, also from Pakistan.

Alcohol Ration

This Is Called 'Safest And Most Available Tranquilizer'

Whenever I have written that I favor the moderate use of alcohol, I receive some letters from readers who write, in effect: "Don't you realize the dangers of chronic alcoholism? How can you possibly suggest the use of alcohol?"

Therefore, I have been especially interested in what a symposium of noted sociologists and biochemists at the University of California School of Medicine found.

Dr. William Dock of New York said: "I have felt that what is needed in retreats for ailing or aged people, and even in city hosptials, is a regular alcohol ration." And the noted Yale physiologist Leon A. Greenberg said: "Alcohol is the safest, most available tranquilizer we have."

In one of my own books written about six years ago (and now out of print) called "Live Longer and Enjoy It":

"Doctors find themselves on the spot when they prescribe liquor. Few know better than they do how much grief can be caused by excessive drinking. They see the bewildered, frightened children; they know of the lost jobs and insolvent businesses; they try to cheer the sober partner as the other unconsciously tears down the pillars of marriage; they stand by and observe the frustration, helplessness and loss of hope—and finally, illness and death.

"In the U. S. there are about 50 million social drinkers; 3 million excessive drinkers; and 750,000 who suffer from chronic alcoholism.

"Yet, we doctors know there is another side to it. We recognize that alcohol can also do much good. It is an important part of the doctor's therapeutic armamentarium.

"To begin, we must remember that every drug the doctor prescribes has potentialities for harm. The layman knows that too many morphine, phenobarbital, bromide, aspirin or thyroid pills can be harmful. That even an apparently harmless concoction like bicarbonate of soda water is known to be life-shortening, if taken often enough, for some heart and high blood pressure sufferers.

"Likewise alcohol is a two-edged sword: one dull, the other sharp. Before accepting or rejecting it, there are a few things you should know. In moderate amounts liquor is an appetizer and stomachic. A martini 'makes' many a dinner and so-social function. For the elderly, alcohol seems to provide a new lease on life.

"It produces a sense of well-being. Where there was taciturnity before, there is loquaciousness; where there was the mask-like, expressionless face, there is now the smile. For a time, the elder becomes again the gay blade and 'business-producer' of yesteryear. Alcohol is often invaluable in translating discomfort into comfort when anginal pains grip the chest.

"But I find that alcohol's chief value is in fighting tension. I have found that there are few better ways of cutting the rope of tension that ties people to their work than by taking an ounce of sherry, a glass of ale or beer, or a shot of Scotch or bourbon before dinner. It eases away cares and fatigue, stimulates appetite, makes food taste better, enlivens conversation, brightens the outlook.

"Over the years, hundreds upon hundreds of patients have told me (in all sobriety) how much the daily ounce or two of liquor has added to the fullness and enjoyment of their lives . . .

"But here are some DON'TS: Don't take alcohol if your doctor has issued an unequivocal prohibition in your case. And never drink if you expect to be behind the wheel of a car."

Dr. Steincrohn's leaflet, "Practical Pointers for Coronary Patients," will be mailed on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10 cents in coin for handling. Address your request to Dr. Steincrohn, care of this newspaper.

THE ALMANAC

By United Press International

Today is Saturday, Dec. 30, the 364th day of the year with one to follow in 1961.

The moon is approaching its new phase.

The evening stars are Jupiter and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1911, Dr. Sun Yat-sen was elected the first president of the Republic of China by the Revolutionary Provisional Assembly.

In 1927, Japan dedicated the first subway in the Orient in the city of Tokyo.

In 1947, King Michael of Rumania agreed to abdicate, charging that he was being forced off the throne by local Communists, aided and abetted by the Soviet Union.

In 1959, President Dwight Eisenhower planned a trip to four South American nations.

A thought for the day: Former President Abraham Lincoln once said: "Truth is generally the best vindication against slander."

GEORGE SOKOLSKY

Industry Shifts

Management Often Avoids Owner Profits By Acquisitions

American industry was built by individuals investing their savings in enterprises, nurturing them, occasionally combining with other enterprises, expanding out of earnings, taking out limited profits and putting savings and reserves back into the business. It was a private enterprise, designed to provide a profit but conducted prudently to guard against a risk turning into a failure.

This is the capitalist system. It is often called the profit and loss system. Its essential is that the enterprise is privately-owned and originally was owned by those who managed it; latterly widely owned by individuals unrelated to management. Its growth depended upon the character, sincerity and ability of those who owned the enterprise. Ownership and management were identical. The final responsibility rested in ownership. However, as the corporation developed and as management began to assume the responsibility of ownership, the nature of industrial managment changed.

Ownership became diverse and diffuse. Paid employees, assumed increasing authority, sometimes in disregard of the law, weakening initiative and absorbing parts of the profits by excessive wages, expenses, and other devices to entrench themselves in power.

In recent years, management has often neglected the principal function of the business which is to earn a profit for the owners, by burying earnings and other increments in what are called acquisitions which is the increase of an enterprise's value by purchasing other enterprises by the exchange of stock. It is often difficult to ascertain why Company B, obviously profitable, sells itself to another company, sometimes less profitable than Company B.

Often an acquisition is really an exchange of power within an enterprise without disclosing the shift of control. Sometimes the acquisition includes prosperous and unprofitable enterprises, the expectation being that by the acquisition the unprofitable enterprise will be buried. Sometimes, all these combinations are managed for a tax advantage, the management of the two companies taking advantage of the ownership which only reads of the astonishing rise of prospective annual income.

The emphasis on management is unsound and gives strength to those who should be subordinate employees. The emphasis on management has grown beyond reason and tolerance. Management only is legally responsible for the affairs of a company to the extent that it serves on the Board of Directors which represents ownership.

The trick devised here is the appointment of an Executive Committee which usually consists of senior officers of management who meet between directors' meetings and act for them. The Executive Committee often usurps the authority of the Board of Directors but none of its responsibilities. Theoretically, the Executive Committee meets because it is smaller and more mobile than the Board of Directors and can put over devices which the Board would resist, but which a Board can never ratify because steps have been taken and commitments undertaken from which withdrawal would be costly and, in fact, inappropriate. Thus management uses the Executive Committee to turn a Board of Directors into drones or into a crony Board.

Thus, the Executive Committee hurls a report on the table which should take many hours to study. Somebody moves that the report be approved as read; the fact however is that the report is approved unread, unstudied, unscrutinized. The result is hurried and unjustified action.

The cause for much of this is bigness—the lust for bigness, the show - offness of bigness. The worthiness of an enterprise is to be measured by its profits not by its so-called size or growth. Profits prove competent management and prudent operations.

When management absorbs too great a share of the earnings in disregard of the interests of ownership and the reserves of the enterprise, the business is badly managed. Those engaged in acquisitions have to be watched closely because this word, acquisitions, is a blanket for all sorts of queer practices, including the shifting of the control-power of an enterprise without regard to the protection of ownership. In fact, ownership may find itself out of control without knowing what has happened for some time. The reason for this is that in a company with a large and diffuse ownership, management can move swiftly to concentrate power through small devices and when the Board wakes up to what has been done, it dares not disclose the trick lest it embarrass itself by admitting inefficiency and neglect.

All this is to be watched closely if business is not to be hamstrung in the United States.

SYLVIA PORTER

Money Big Issue

Tariff Legislation, Tax Reform, Medical Care Involved

Tariff legislation, tax reform, medical care for the aged under Social Security, retraining of the jobless, higher postal rates —what have these widely dissimilar subjects in common?

They're a top five on the list of issues which both Democrats and Republicans agree will dominate the 87th Congress almost from the hour it reconvenes on Jan. 10.

And they're all pocketbook issues — which means they'll crack party lines, cross income classes, at times divide and at times unite big business and big labor.

To make a firm forecast on the first working day of 1962 about Congress' actions months from now is nonsensical on the face of it. But to say positively that these will be among the top issues in the new session is entirely justified. The struggles in Congress in 1961 laid the basis for the struggles in Congress in 1962; the administration has made it clear that it will fight hard for revolutionary tariff legislation — the most controversial issue of all.

Even a casual analysis will underline how deeply decisions on these questions will affect the finances of millions of U. S. families.

Take the tariff legislation. This has hardly been typical dinner conversation in the average home in recent years but it will be so this year and next year and the year after that. For President Kennedy will be asking unprecedented powers to bargain down our tariff walls across - the-board in return for an equal lowering of Europe's tariff walls so our businessmen can sell increasing amount of American - made goods in the rapidly expanding, booming European Common Market. But a lowering of our tariff walls would stimulate sales of imported goods in our country and imports already are fiercely competitive in hundreds of our industries. The heightened competition would eliminate jobs, could destroy whole industries at the same time that it would benefit you, the cost - conscious consumer.

With protectionist sentiment at the highest point in decades and with even unions traditionally in favor of free trade joining in the clamor for steeper, not easier trade restrictions, the fight here could reach monumental proportions.

Or take tax reform legislation designed primarily to give businessmen additional incentives to spend money to build new plants, modernize equipment. Accelerated building of plans would create jobs and expand paychecks and it would help our corporations produce more competitively priced goods for sale here and abroad. But the more a factory is automated, the less jobs will be available in that factory — and the greater will become the problem of relocating those displaced workers.

Or take legislation to help retrain the workers who lose their jobs so they can find new positions. We're entering 1962 in a strong upswing. Yet, the rate of unemployment continues stickily high and even a super - boom will not clean out our pools of unskilled, uneducated unemployed for the simple reason that our economy has less and less need for the unskilled, uneducated man or woman, with other forces intensifying the problem of these "handicapped" Americans, there will be rising pressures for a federal law to help train and retrain the jobless.

Or take legislation which would raise our Social Security taxes to provide hospital and nursing home care for the aged — an issue which has aroused passionate opposition and support, for it has profound emotional as well as key financial aspects.

Or take legislation which would raise the postal rate on first - class mail to five cents and on air mail to eight cents. A deal paving the way for this way has been made between the administration and the crucial Senate committee. But these mail rate hikes would raise the costs of every one who uses the mails. There'll be plenty of howls.

PROBLEMS UNSOLVED

Future Of Laos Still Uncertain

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Laos is going into the new year with its standing as an international problem child intact.

Strenuous diplomatic efforts to get a final agreement from the three Laotian princes on a coalition government in a Vientiane summit conference foundered Friday.

Pro-Communist Prince Souphanouvong sped back by chartered airliner to his rebel Pathet Lao stronghold on the Plaine des Jarres. His half-brother, Prince Souvanna Phouma, neutralist premier-designate, planned to pull out Saturday.

Both said the quest for common ground will continue.

Premier Prince Boun Oum, a pro-Western conservative, kept his job as governmental chief of a jungle kingdom divided by revolt.

It was Boun Oum's refusal to dicker personally on the allocation of 16 Cabinet seats in the proposed new regime that snagged the conference at its outset Wednesday. His position was that formation of the Cabinet is a matter Souvanna will have to thresh out with leaders of Laos' many political factions.

For a while the spotlight will shift again to the 14-nation Laotian conference reconvening in Geneva next Wednesday. Soviet Ambassador Alexander Abramov has declared that conference must "exercise pressure on those who hinder a peaceful settlement."

Implying that Americans were to blame, Souphanouvong charged before leaving town that Boun Oum's stand resulted from pressures applied "in the shadow by a group of people whom I will not name, since the whole world knows them well."

This mirrored a suspicion among Laotian politicians that, while U.S. Ambassador Winthrop Brown worked to get the princes together, American military officers advising Boun Oum's army were privately encouraging him to back out of his agreement to join in a coalition under Souvanna. American diplomatic authorities denied his.

With American help, the government has built up the royal army to more than 70,000 men, trained it intensively and more than doubled its corps of generals. Royal army officers feel confident the army, a heavy loser in the warfare ended by a cease-fire last May, now could whip both Souvanna's neutralist troops and the Pathet Lao guerrillas in a strictly domestic fight.

Souvanna has warned, however, that renewal of the Laotian civil conflict would result in a generalized East-West war.

A Paris-educated former premier, Souvanna told reporters "There is no use staying here."

"Both sides remain on their respective positions," he said. "But I hope in the end they will find some common ground. Be patient, be patient."

Souphanouvong also declared through a spokesman that fresh efforts will be made later to get the three princes together.

"It has to be done," the spokesman said.

NATIONAL MAGAZINE

Passman's Power Cited In Article

Congressman Otto E. Passman is the subject of six - page article in the January, 1962, issue of Harper's Magazine, and is referred to as ". . . one of the most powerful men in Washington . . . and perhaps the most effective enemy of American foreign policy."

Rowland Evans, Jr., political reporter in Washington for the New York Herald Tribune, wrote the article entitled "Louisiana's Passman: The Scourge of Foreign Aid."

According to the article, Passman exerts "a power over American foreign policy that may outweight all the foreign - aid administrators, all the Under Secretaries of State, and all Ambassadors and plenipotentiaries of the United States put together:

"He has defeated Presidents, confounded Secretaries of State, pushed the powerful Senate to the wall and compelled his own leaders in the House to yield to him. So formidable has he become that President Kennedy once asked a Congressman at a bill signing ceremony at the White House: 'What am I going to do about Otto Passman?'"

Evans further points out that the source of power which Passman has in his post as chairman of the House Appropriations Subcommittee on Foreign Operations. He has "almost single - handely chopped $4.8 billion from requested foreign - aid appropriations totaling $26.4 billion," since 1955, when he took over the chairmanship.

"Not once has he been reversed by the full committee and only twice by the House itself," Evans wrote.

Evans went on to say that the battles between the Presidents and Passman have been growing in intensity each year. Prior to the days of foreign aid, Presidents and Passman have been growing in intensity each year. Prior to the days of foreign aid, Presidents could conduct the day-to - day operations of foreign policy with scarcely a thought to the House or its Appropriations Committee.

Passman was quoted as saying on a session of "Meet the Press" last summer. "In principal, I am very much against foreign aid because I don't believe that giving away our wealth and dollars alone will save our country."

Evans described the area of the Fifth Congressional district by saying, "the politics, economic and geography of the Fifth District of Louisiana encourage him in his conviction (conservative and anti - foreign aid). Bordered on the east by the Mississippi River, it has no big industry, in fact scarcely any industry at all other than a scattering of saw and pulp mills. The soil is poor in hilly Lincoln, Union and Jackson Parishes, inhabited by hard-bitten hill folk.

"In the flat alluvial plain along the river, well - heeled planters whose politics are starkly conservative, plant, grow and ship cotton. In the entire district, there is not a single important detense industry, not a single major Army camp or Air Force base. . . "

In referring to Passman's future in Washington and his battle with foreign aid, Evans said his allies are durable and built - in: the Constitution which gives the House control of the Treasury; the seniority system, which freezes him into his chairmanship as long as the Democrats control the House; the growing frustration over foreign aid in Congress and the country.

Evans adds, "And then there are the formidable weapons of the man himself — total concentration on the aid program; unshakeable self - confidence that he is right and the President wrong; and, as he puts it, a skin 'as tough as a piece of rawhide'"

He then concludes, "Crazy Otto, his colleagues sometimes call him. Crazy — like the cunningest fox you ever saw.

Negro Is Booked For Thefts Of Scrap Copper

Two counts of felony theft were lodged Friday by West Monroe police against a local Negro.

Booked for the offenses was Willie Lucas, 47, of 119 Grape St. in West Monroe. He is charged with taking approximately 400 pounds of scrap copper wire from a storage yard of the Louisiana Power and Light Co.

Detectives said Lucas also has admitted to the theft in August of nearly 400 pounds of the same material. They said he has admitted taking wire on several recent occasions but is being charged in only two instances — Dec. 8 and Dec. 15. Stolen at those times were approximately 220 pounds and 162 pounds, valued at 23 to 24 cents per pound.

Complainant in the case, B. L. Spillers, of the Louisiana Power and Light Co., reported the new losses Thursday. He said that around 1,000 pounds have been taken in all from the storage yard, at various times during the holidays, much of it Dec. 27.

Youth Is Booked On Two Charges

A West Monroe youth was booked and being held Friday by Monroe police under bond of $150 after being apprehended earlier in the day on warrants for two charges.

Booked under warrants for simple battery and disturbing the peace was Paul J. Higgins, 18, of 207 Hamilton. He was apprehended by West Monroe officers at his home shortly before noon and turned over to Monroe authorities.

Madrid Paper Assails U. S. Congo Policies

MADRID, Spain (AP) — The Madrid newspaper ABC assailed the United States Friday in two reports from special correspondents in Washington and London criticizing the Kennedy administration's policies on the Congo, Katanga and Goa.

"By its attitude, the United States is collaborating with the enemies of the West," the newspaper said. "Washington, in this way, seeks the friendship of the Afro-Asian bloc."

Both articles reflect current thinking in Spain, if public statements and private conversations are correct. Their simultaneous publication was one of the strongest recent blasts in what has become a growing campaign against the United States in the Spanish press. The Spanish view in general is that in the Katanga issue the United States played into Soviet hands, that in the matter of Goa the United States failed to back Portugal as it should have.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

How To Keep Well

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

WORKING AFTER A HEART ATTACK

My husband is 83 and had a heart attack three months ago," writes Mrs. R. "The doctor said his heart was damaged very little but he still has not gone back to the office. Do you think a person in this condition ever will return to work?"

The majority who recover from a heart attack go back to work after three months, provided they do not have chest pains, shortness of breath, or dropsy. I assume your husband has none of these symptoms because the damage was minor, and you are begining to wonder when he will resume his job.

The ordinary heart attack occurs when a coronary artery is obstructed by a clot and a small, dime sized area of heart muscle dies from lack of blood. The tissues soften for 10 days and then begin to heal, forming a strong scar by the end of six weeks. Physicians usually allow another six weeks of graduated exercise to restore tone to the heart muscle.

When the individual thinks additional rest is necessary, he usually is emotionally upset about the entire affair and somewhat apprehensive about working. He may have inherent fears about heart disease because of past experiences. Others, especially psychoneurotics, always react to any illness by taking twice as much time off as is necessary. The question of a pension or other compensation also enters the picture.

We know that those who return to work live longer after a heart attack. The more timid who remain home become more apprehensive, especially when encouraged to do so by an equally apprehensive physician. As a result, the heart pounds instead of beating normally and the blood pressure rises. Some medicos don't realize that the electrocardiogram may not return to normal after a heart attack, even tho the heart muscle is l ealed completely.

Many rehabilitation centers are able to help men who considered themselves cardiac cripples to return to a useful occupation.

SLOWING DOWN ARTHRITIS

S.R.B. writes: I know there is no cure for arthritis but is there any way to retard its progress? I have this condition in a fairly mild form but who wants to fall apart at 50?

REPLY

No one. The best way to retard arthritis is to minimize wear and tear on the joints and keep the body healthy. Eat a balanced diet, sleep at least eight hours at night, avoid infections, and indulge in exercise that will not impose a strain on the joints.

SINUS CURE

A. M. writes: Is sinus trouble incurable?

REPLY

No. It is curabel in 95 per cent of all cases. Many people live for years with the mistaken idea that they have sinus disease when they have nasal infection, irritation, or allergy. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on sinus disorders.

SMOKING WON'T DEFORM

P. H. writes: Will smoking during pregnancy lead to a deformed baby?

REPLY

No. Nicotine passes across the placenta into the baby's circulation but does no harm. Many women experience a distaste for cigarets early in pregnancy, which persists during the nine months.

ETHER AT DELIVERY

Mrs. E. writes: Do doctors still use ether ir the delivery room? I hear this makes patients very sick.

REPLY

Yes, some physicians do. But the amount is so small the expectant mother seldom gets sick. Many obstetricians prefer the shorter acti..g anesthetics.

Sentenced To Death

BLANTYRE, Nyasaland (UPI) —Four African men were sentenced to hang Thursday for burning alive two women accused as "witches."

Witnesses testified that the men burned the women with their arms tied to stakes. One of the four had accused the women of creating a magic crocodile which ate his daughter, one witness said.

THIS WAS THE CIVIL WAR

By MERTON T. AKERS
United Press International

The year 1862 dawned in gloom. This gloom, which pervaded Washington and Richmond alike and in about the same degree, seems now, 100 years later, to have been exaggerated when measured against the facts.

Three land battles of consequence had been fought in 1861, the first calendar year of the Civil War, and it was true that the North had lost all of them—Bull Run (Manassas) and Ball's Bluff in Virginia and Wilson's Creek in Missouri. But none was decisive. The victories helped the Confederates mostly in building up soldier morale. No ground was gained, no cities captured, no armies annihilated. The North was not hurt seriously.

Union generals to date had proved they were no makers of victory — Irwin McDowell and Robert Patterson in Virginia and Nathaniel Lyon in Missouri. McDowell no longer commanded, Patterson had retired and Lyon was dead on the battlefield.

John C. Fremont's star as a general had risen and set in 100 days without a battle in the West.

On New Year's day of 1862 the North was pinning its hopes on the young and dashing George B. McClellan, Don Carlos Buell in Kentucky and Henry W. Halleck in the Mississippi Valley. None had proved himself a man of action.

The men who eventually would tailor victory for the North were learning their trade in subordinate positions.

U. S. Grant, a brigadier, was mapping a drive up the Tennessee and Cumberland Rivers to pierce the heart of the western Confederacy. William Tecumseh Sherman, another brigadier, drilling recruits in Missouri, was trying to live down a newspaper charge of insanity.

George H. Thomas, a Virginia-born brigadier who remained loyal to the Union, headed 4,000 troops in southeastern Kentucky, but was bogged down by winter on what he hoped would be a drive into the Union section of Eastern Tennessee. Young Capt. Philip H. Sheridan only a week before had been named chief commissary officer for the Union Army of Southwest Missouri. He also asked for and was granted reluctantly the position of chief quartermaster.

McClellan, general-in-chief, was devoting most of his time to the Army of the Potomac around Washington. By New Year's he had assembled about 175,000 men —and was demanding more. The autumn of '61 in Virginia had been ideal for campaigning, dry and crisp and mild until late in December.

But "Little Mac" was not moving. President Lincoln, prodded for action by Northern politicians, was in turn prodding the general-in-chief, without success.

There was no action on the Southern side, either.

Gen. Joseph E. Johnston commanded the Confederates in Northern Virginia. At the end of '61 he could count 57,337 men against McClellan's 175,000. Slightly more than 10,000 of Johnston's men were in the Shenandoah Valley. Another 6,000 were scattered along the lower Potomac. That left Johnston 41,000 men in his main army to fight McClellan if and when the Federal commander-in-chief moved south.

Johnston's troubles were compounded by the "Furlough and Bounty Act" which went into effect on New Year's day. The act amounted to a reorganization of his army.

Many early enlistments were for 12 months and would be running out in the late winter and spring. To induce re-enlistment for three years or the duration of the war, the Confederate Congress voted a bounty of $50 and a 60-day furlough to those who would re-sign. In addition, re-enlistees could change outfits or even branches of the service if they desired and could elect their own company and field officers.

Johnston felt that these furloughs, if granted in enough quantity to achieve their purpose, would weaken his army too much in the face of an enemy already outnumbering him. He asked for instructions on administering the act from the Confederate war department. Secretary of War Judah P. Benjamin handed the problem right back, suggesting that Johnston go to the "extreme verge of prudence" in issuing furloughs.

The leaders who eventually would lead the Confederacy to many victories, like their Union counterparts, also were mostly in subordinate positions.

Gen. Robert E. Lee was shoring up the Confederate East coast defenses in South Carolina, earning the name of "King of Spades."

Maj. Gen. Thomas J. (Stonewall) Jackson on New Year's Day started off on a campaign from the Shenandoah Valley of Virginia to Romney, with a view to cutting the North's Baltimore & Ohio rail link to the West.

Gen. P. G. T. Beauregard, still the hero of Sumter and Manassas, was commanding in northern Virginia under Johnston. Maj. Gen. James (Old Pete) Longstreet was in the same camp. And James Ewell Brown (Jeb) Stuart's cavalry guarded the outposts. Actually, in the eight and a half months since the firing on Fort Sumter, each side had made great strides toward preparing for and at the same time fighting a civil war.

The South since February '61 had organized a government where none existed before, raised an army from bits and pieces of militia and volunteers, equipped it with some sort of weapons gathered from every source it could turn up, and was a going concern. Its comparatively few factories and industries were beginning to turn out war material. Figures on total Confederate forces are scarce but probably upwards of 200,000 men had been enrolled by the start of '62.

The North in the same period had enlisted 660,971 men, Secretary of War Simon Cameron reported. It had armed them, trained them after a fashion, clothed and fed them—only by combing the markets of the world. Its industrial system, far more extensive than that of the South—New York State produced twice as much goods as the entire South—was rapidly converting to a war footing.

The achievements appear impressive in retrospect but they did not seem so to the people at the time.

For they at last were beginning to sense that this was a war and not a picnic. The idea of a short fight died hard. People of both sides still nursed the hope that one big victory might end it all and demanded that their leaders go out and win it.

Many Northerners hoped the war would last long enough to abolish slavery. Southerners were counting on Great Britain and France, hungry for cotton, intervening and making good their independence without more fighting.

Twelve months hence when the bells rang in the year of 1863, both would know better. They would know then that this Civil war had settled down into a bloodletting the like of which the nation had never seen.

They would know then that men believed in the preservation of the Union and the abolition of slavery; in Southern rights and independence.

They would know then that men would fall on a thousand battle fields; that they would die of disease in a myriad of filthy camps and prisons; all this because they believed in what they were fighting for.

DEAR ABBY

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband has worked for the government for almost four years and I have never set foot in his office. I have never even met his boss or seen any of the people he works with. He says that wives just don't go to their husbands' offices. I know lots of women who go to their husbands' offices all the time. I wouldn't make a pest of myself. I just want to see where he works and meet some of the people he works with. Why should a man's office life and home life be distinct and separate? —SMALL COMPLAINT

DEAR SMALL: Some wives "do" visit their husbands' offices too frequently, but knowing how eager you are to see it, he should invite you to drop in for a few minutes. Don't nag him. Just mention it every time he's in a good mood.

DEAR ABBY: My brother-in-law (he is married to my sister) has a young brother that I like a lot. But he won't date me because he thinks we are "related." In fact he calls me his "cousin." (I am 18 and he is 20.) My parents and everyone else tell me that we are "not" related in a way that would keep him from dating me, or even marrying me if he wanted to. Can you tell me if my parents are right? If they are, how can I convince him of it? —LIKES SOMEONE

DEAR LIKES: Your parents are right. If you have to "convince" him of a fact that is so obvious, forget him.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell me how to refuse, without being rude, an invitation to be best man at a wedding. The circumstances are as follows: The man works in the same office with me. We are friendly, but far from close. I have never met any of his relatives personally, but I know that he has three brothers he could have asked. The girl he is marrying also has two grown brothers. Putting it bluntly, I would feel entirely out of place being the best man at this wedding and I wish he had never asked me. Thank you. —FEELING TRAPPED

DEAR FEELING: Your friend obviously feels "closer" to you than you feel to him, but if you would feel "out of place," simply thank him for the honor and decline.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "Over 21": Your husband is next to being the biggest fool in the world. But if you let him get away with it—you're the biggest.

Are things rugged? For a personal reply, write to Abby in care of the News-Star and don't forget a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Crusaders Trounce Northeast Five, 85-71

Play East Texas In Finals Today

By RICK BRYAN
World Sports Editor

William Carey rode the rebounding and 31-point net-ripping of 6'6" John Vickars into an 85-71 upset of Northeast State that knocked the Indians out of first place contention in the second game of their own Christmas tournament in Brown Hall gym here last night.

Vickars, the Belzoni, Miss. senior who has averaged 25 points a game for the Crusaders this year, scorched the nets with his lay-ups and tip-ins all night as William Carey took a slim lead late in the first half then widened the margin in the final half to win going away.

East Texas Baptist College surprised Delta State 65-63 in the opening game of the eighth annual Northeast Christmas tourney and now will face William Carey in the finals tonight at 8:30 p.m.

Northeast plays old rival Delta State tonight at 7 p.m. for consolation honors.

The Statesmen nipped the Indians 70-67 in Cleveland earlier this year.

Northeast did accomplish one thing. Ace guard Lanny Johnson bucketed 15 points to surpass the thousand mark for his four year college career. The Monroe marksman needed 15 going into the game.

Stuart Toms, 5-11 guard from Quitman, led Northeast scoring with 18 points in playing what may have been his best game of the year.

Little John Stephenson, from Southportsmouth, Kentucky, was second behind Vickers for William Carey with 19 and Joe Belan, a 215 pounder from McKees Rocks, Pennsylvania, scored 16.

Robert Cook, Northeast center from Jonesboro led the Tribe in rebounding with 10 points. Vickers paced the Crusaders snaring 9 but and Belan chipped in with seven.

Neither team could hit in the early stages of the game and 4:20 went by before William Carey got the first field goal on Vicker's tip-in. This gave the Crusaders a 4-2 lead after they had led twice and the score had been tied twice entirely on gratis shooting.

The Tribe missed its first 10 field goal attempts and scored no two - pointers until Toms tied the score 4-4 seconds later.

From that point William Carey led twice and the score was tied twice before Northeast went on a five point scoring binge on point age by Walker and Cook to take the lead 9-8 and increase it to 14-8.

Jump and crip shots by Toms, plus a two pointer by Johnson kept the Tribe ahead and increased their lead to 22-18 with 7:59 left.

Jerry Snelling, and Cook got hot then to push the Skins margin to five points, 2-23 with 4:50 to go.

But a slump and some sharp shooting by Vickers enabled the Crusaders to tie the score 28-28 with 2:36 left in the half.

Cook and Bob Groves put Northeast out front by two points twice again but each time Stephenson and Vickers tied the score again and with 1:12 remaining a foul shot by Vickers gave the Crusaders a 34-32 advantage.

Freshman Jerry Salley tied the score on two four shots with :37 on the clock but Vaughn sank a field goal at :13 for William Carey's 36-34 halftime edge.

The Crusaders quickly pushed their lead to eight points, 43-35 with little more than three minutes gone in the second half.

Northeast roared back behind four points by Johnson and two by Toms to cut the gap to 45-42 only to have successive field goals by little Stephenson push William Carey into a 49-42 margin.

Foul shots by Vickers plus a nifty crip off a rebound widened the gap to eleven points, 65-54 with 6:04 left and Stephenson pumped in two more at 2:26 for a 67-54 Crusader lead.

From there on it was strictly downhill for Northeast with the Tribe's zone gaming them little but fouls and William Carey ball freezing tactics in the final minutes effective but entirely unnecessary.

Sophomore guard Jimmy Walker from Jonesboro, was next in the Northeast scoring line with 13 points and Cook hit 10.

Groves followed Cook with 10 rebounds.

It was the Tribe's first loss at home in eight games and evened their record at 4-4.

One reason for the loss was Northeast's miserable shooting accuracy. The Indians hit on only 22 of 83 field goal attempts for 26 per cent. William Carey sank 25 of 62 shots for 40.3 per cent.

The Crusaders also cashed in on 35 of 45 foul shots while Northeast shot more accurately, getting only 31 tries, but hitting 27 of them.

Toms, who sank six of 13 field goal attempts, had a perfect night at the charity line as usual sinking six of six foul shots.

Tigers Defeat Louisville, 84-70 In Bowl Tourney

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A jump shot by carrot-topped W. C. Stroud in the final three seconds gave Mississippi State's Southeastern Conference basketball champions a narrow 64-62 victory over Maryland Friday night in the first round of the Sugar Bowl tournament.

Louisiana State and Louisville met in the nightcap.

Mississippi State, a heavy favorite to win the tourney crown, fed the ball to Stroud in the corner just before the final buzzer and the 6-foot-1 junior responded with the shot that gave the Maroons the margin.

Two long shots by Stroud in the last two minutes kept Mississippi State in the game as the taller Maryland team rallied and forged ahead in the late stages.

The Maroons showed a 33-30 lead at halftime but the Terrapins fought back and spun to the top on a looping one-hander by Jerry Greenspan at 42-41.

Maryland widened the lead to 57-52 with less than four minutes remaining before Stroud found the range and finally hit for the winning bucket.

Stroud was the leading scorer with 22 points. Teammate Leland Mitchell hit for 20 as the Maroons chalked up their eighth straight victory without a defeat this season.

Greenspan's 20 points was the top effort for Maryland, which dropped its fourth decision in seven starts.

GS Classic Enters Final Round Today

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP)—Host Centenary defeated Mississippi Southern 73-66 Friday night and joined defending champion South Carolina in the championship final of the eighth annual Gulf South Classic.

South Carolina advanced earlier wiht an 80-77 squeaker past Hamline of Minnesota.

Centenary had to come from behind time and time again against the scrappy Southerners. Mississippi Southern led 37-34 at halftime and battled the favored Gents down to the wire before 1,758 fans.

Roy Danforth of Southern took scoring honors with 22 points. Sophomore Jimmy Williams again paced Centenary with 18, while another sophomore, Stan McAfoos, contributed 17.

Southern will meet Hamline for third place.

Art Whisnant of South Carolina, Fred Schmiesing and Bill Nelson, both of Hamline, tied for high point honors in their game with 24 points each. Scotti Ward sank 22 for South Carolina.

South Carolina held a 46-38 halftime advantage and pulled out by as much as 10 points in the second half only to have Hamline stage a final minute rally that fell short.

Two records were set and two others tied in consolation play Friday afternoon as Memphis State and Murray (Ky.) State advanced to the consolation finals.

Murray beat Louisiana Tech 69-61 in the first game of the afternoon while Memphis State whipped Northwestrn (La.) State 103-83 in the second consolation semifinal of the day.

Memphis State and Murray State will meet for the consolation championship Saturday night. NSC and Louisiana Tech, two ancient Gulf States Conference rivals, meet for seventh place Saturday afternoon.

Bob Neumann of Memphis State tied the classic scoring record with 33 points against Northwestern. Milton Williams of Centenary set the record in 1957 against The Citadel and it was tied in 1959 by Carl Cole of Eastern Kentucky against Hamline.

The other new record came in the first game when Jim Jennings of Murray grabbed 31 rebounds.

The combined team high score record was set at 186 points in the Memphis State-NSC game. The old record of 181 points was shared by South Carolina and Centenary in 1960 and Memphis State's 103 points tied NSC's record against Louisiana State set in 1956.

Top scorer for NSC Friday was Gayle Hatch with 27 points.

In the championship bracket semis, defending champion South Carolina met Hamlin of Minnesota and host Centenary met Mississipi Southern.

Murray State's Jennings grabbed 31 rebounds — 21 in the first half — to break the tourney mark of 24 set by Joe Arden of Hardin-Simmons in 1959. His 27 points made him the game high scorer. Jackie Fair with 17 was Tech's high man.

The game was close all the way with Murray State holding a slim 36-35 halftime advantage.

Dietzel May Quit Bengals For Army Job

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Sports Editor Bill Keefe of the New Orleans Times-Picayune said in his column for Saturday's editions that West Point has offered its head football coaching post to Louisiana State's Paul Dietzel.

Keefe wrote that a "confidently- expressed statement" from a reliable source says that Dietzel will ask the LSU athletic board to release him from his contract so he can accept the Army offer.

West Point fired Coach Dale Hall at the end of the regular season. Hall's contract had one year to run.

Defending champion Stephen F. Austin whipped Ouachita 97-81 in a wild, rough-and-tumble contest for third place.

Southeastern Oklahoma led all the way in the title game as the 6-foot-7 McGuire, a junior, broke a tourney scoring record. He had a fabulous night, sinking 17 of his 20 shots at the basket. The Oklahomans shot a nifty 60 per cent from the floor, dunking 29 of 48 field goals.

McNeese, losing its first home game in 15 outings, was paced by Jim Cain's 15 points.

East Texas Baptist Rallies To Clip Delta State, 65-63

By WAYNE KING
World Sports Writer

The East Texas Baptist College Tigers rallied strongly in the last minutes of the game to defeat the Delta State Statesmen 65-63 in the inaugural game of the eighth annual Christmas Tournament at Northeast Louisiana State College last night.

East Texas overcame a six-point halftime disadvantage after Delta State had appeared to make a run-away of the game mid-way in the first half. The Tigers tied the score at 52-52 with 6:23 playing time left after trailing by nine points, 51-42, with 9:28 of the game left.

From that point it was an exciting nip-and-tuck battle. The score was tied four times in two action - packed minutes before East Texas moved into the lead to stay with 4:12 playing time remaining.

The Tigers slowed the game down with ball-control tactics to run out the clock and preserve their slim advantage which was never more than four points.

William Dunn was the big gun for the Tigers as he pumped in 20 points to cop high-scoring honors for the game. The 6-2 junior from Grand Cane, La., grabbed off 10 rebounds to lead in that department also.

Dunn connected on eight of 12 attempts from the floor and cashed in on all four free throw attempts.

Jay Boland paced the Statesmen offensive attack with 18 points. He was followed closely by teammates Charles Preston with 16 and John Long with 15.

Dale McIntosh and Jerry Morgan hit 14 apiece and Jenry Duke added 11 to the Tigers' cause.

Larry Dowdy was Delta State's strong man on the backboards, picking off nine rebounds.

Delta State, with superior height, out-rebounded the East Texans, 32-27, but the Tigers hit 43 per cent of their shots from the floor and 88 per cent from the foul line while the Statemen hit only 36 per cent of their field goal attempts and 75 per cent of their free throws.

Both teams got off to a slow start, and it appeared as if it would be a sea-saw battle all the way. In the first nine minutes of play the lead changed hands five times and the count was knotted twice.

After the score was deadlocked at 14 all with 11:05 of the first half remaining, Delta State got hot and surged into a 12-point lead, at 32-20 with four minutes left in the half.

Boland was the big spark in the move, collecting 10 of his 18 total points in the drive. Most of his points came on long jump shots.

With only 1:32 to go in the first half, Delta still held a 12-point advantage, 35-23, but East Texas stopped the Statesmen streak and cut their margin to only six points, at 35-29, by entermission.

The Tigers made a valliant effort to take over early in the second half as they cut Delta's lead to a mere point, 39-38, with 15:23 left to play, but the Statesmen pulled back into an apparently safe lead, at 47-38, four minutes later, after Preston canned eight straight points for Delta.

Mid-way in the last half, Delta still retained a nine-point advantage, 51-42, but the East Texans made their big move then.

The Tigers hit on four quick fielders to whittle Delta's lead to a lone point, 51-50, with the clock showing 7:34.

A minute later Grandle Barron added one point for Delta State with a free toss, but 50 seconds later McIntosh calmly dropped in two grattis tosses to knot the score at 52-52.

The teams matched points for the next two minutes, tying the score four times, before East Texas moved out front to stay.

Duke and McIntosh hit jump shots to give the Tigers a four-point advantage, 61-57, with 3:15 playing time left.

The Tigers then slow the pace in order to preserve their slim lead.

After Preston hit two free tosses for the Statesmen, McIntosh regained the Tigers' four - point advantage at 63-59 with a driving lay - up with 1:24 remaining.

Fifteen seconds later Preston cut the margin to two points with a crip shot.

East Texas controlled the ball for almost a minute before Duke, left all alone under the goal, tipped in two more points for the Tigers with only 25 seconds remaining in the game.

Long added the final two points for Delta with a tip - in as the buzzer sounded, but East Texas had their victory by a 65-63 margin and a berth in the finals tonight where they will meet William Carey College which defeated Northeast State, 85-71, in the second game of the first round last night.

Northeast will clash with Delta State in the consolation game at 7 p.m. tonight and the championship game follows at 8:30 p.m.

The Buffaloes

Statistics can show almost anything. Therefore it is not surprising that the Colorado Buffaloes look like a pretty fair football team on paper.

For example Colorado has a big team. No one on the starting eleven weighs less than 190-pounds and no one on the line weighs less than 200.

And the Buffs have a well balanced attack. They rushed for 1,919 yards and passed for 1,182 this fall.

Six halfbacks played just about equal time and Bengal mentor Paul Dietzel hasn't missed a chance to let people know this means they'll always have a fresh backfield just like the Tigers Nor has he forgotten to comment on the seven pro draft choices on the Buffalo squad.

Left halfback Ted Woods, a 196-pounder, is the top Colorado rusher with 529 yards and a 4.9 average. He is followed by fullback Karen Schweinger with 434 yards.

Walt Weidner, the quarterback, has done almost all the passing, completing 74 tosses in 162 attempts for 1,101 yards. He has also thrown eight touchdown passes.

Jerry Hillebrand, a 235 - pound end, is his favorite receiver.

But Louisiana State doesn't look bad on paper either and the big bad Bengals look even better in action.

Dietzel's revitalized Tiger attack averaged 219.6 yards per game rushing. This was good enough to rank second in the Southeastern Conference.

Big, barreling Earl Gros led LSU's rushing game, outgaining West Monroe's Jerry Stovall by one yard. Gros ran for 406 yards to Jerry's 405.

Wendall Harris was conference high scorer with 94 points.

Dietzel laid the success of his ground game on consistent blocking and an experienced backfield. He also brought out that better blocking this year enabled LSU to make more long runs. No truer words could have been spoken.

One area where the Tigers haven't surpassed Colorado is in passing. While the Buffs passed for nine TD's, LSU got only four, two by Lynn Amadee and two by Jimmy Fields. Fields, the White quarterback, tossed for 239 yards on 12 completions in 25 attempts, while Go team hurler Amadee completed 40 of 94 attempts for 485 yards.

The Bayou Bengals also ranked third in the Southeastern Conference in defense, allowing an average of 79.4 yards per game rushing.

One bright spot for Colorado is that LSU did allow 99.9 yards per game passing. Pass defense has been an obvious weak link. Opponents scored five touchdowns on passes and set up two others through the air.

But when it gets down to schedules, Colorado doesn't measure up and it seems likely that most of the Buffs' equality on paper doesn't hold up either, not against the Tigers or the type or the type of opposition LSU played.

Colorado did play some fair ball clubs, but nothing like Georgia Tech or Ole Miss. The Buffaloes opened up with Oklahoma State, followed this with unprepared Kansas, topped Miami, Kansas State, Oklahoma and Missouri, before dropping their only game to Utah. They wound up the season by downing Nebraska, Iowa State and the Air Force Academy.

One other factor in Colorado's favor is that LSU is a notoriously poor bowl contestant. In eight post season games the Tigers have won only twice, while losing five and tying once. Under Dietzel they have a one and one mark, topping Clemson 7-0 in 1959 and losing to Mississippi 21-0 in 1960. Before that the only win was a 19-14 shading of Texas A&M in the 1944 Orange Bowl.

Now Colorado can certainly beat the Tigers. It is conceivable that almost any team can beat another if one is low enough and the other high enough. But, the Tigers are going to have to be awfully low to drop this one.

The Younger League

Anytime you pop - off on something unverifiable or disputable somebody is going to rise up in arms. If they disagree strongly enough, they'll claim you don't know what you're talking about. Sometimes they are right.

With this fact well in mind, we say with trepidation, that the teams of the American Football League appear to be no match for the NFL clubs, at least not if the Houston Oilers and San Diego Chargers are any indication, and as the best teams of the league they should be.

It is hard to compare the teams' ability separately, but the showing of both the Oilers and the Chargers last Sunday was scarcely the smooth, precision operation of the National Football League teams.

The game was marred by fumbles, pass interceptions, aerials that were either short or overthrow, bad snaps from center on punt and field goal tries and numerous other mistakes.

The two looked more like a couple of college elevens, expecially in the first half. There are some players on both teams that could play for the NFL. Billy Cannon, the former LSU all - American, could do well with anybody. But what about some of the others?

That the NFL is superior is not exactly an original idea. A number of people close to the game have expressed the same thought.

When you consider that the NFL grabbed seven of the first eight draft choices of the American group it seems likely the older loop holds the upper hand and may continue to.

The relative strengths of the two leagues, does not, however, take away from the excitement of Sunday's game. Both teams played hard, rugged ball, with a couple of individual turning in outstanding performances. Paul Roberson of San Diego got loose on a couple of good gains, as did Cannon for the Oilers, in addition to scoring the only touchdown of the game on a Blanda's pass.

Both quarterbacks looked good. Jackie Kemp was nimble in eluding Oiler tacklers and Blanda got the first points of the game on his record 46 - yard field goal. Both ground games were hampered early in the game by the defensive play, but when the running did go little Charlie Tolar, the ex - Northwestern great, did about as well as anybody. The five - foot seven fullback, who looks like a dwarf among a group of giants, runs like a mechanical mouse when he gets loose. The stubby 190 - pounder darted and zig - zagged past tackler after tackler when he got daylight. A lot of people in the Gulf States Conference would like to forget that he was this way back in college in 1958. That was the last time Northwestern won the GSC crown or was even close until this year.

A big factor in the game was the effect penalties and Houston's defense had on the Charger attack. The game was built up as a battle between the Oiler's offense and San Diego's defense. But it didn't turn out that way.

One of the key's was Houston's red - dogging of Charger quarterback Kemp. All afternoon they kept the pressure on the passer. Another was little Julian Spence's interception late in the fourth period when the Chargers finally seemed headed for a touchdown.

And of course there was Cannon's touchdown pass play off the arm of Blanda that scored the winning points. As in the past Billy came up with the clutch play. But perhaps the greatest tribute payed him, is not this or that he was the league's leading rusher, but the fact that his teammates consider him the Oiler's best blocker.

Tiger Tidbits

Louisiana State fullbacks didn't lose a yard rushing this year. White team fullback Earl Gros gained 406 yards without a setback, while Go team deep back Charles Cranford failed to lose in 48 carries.

Of 18 passes intercepted by the Tigers this year 12 were pilfered by the Chinese Bandits. Sophomore Dwight Robinson and Tommy Neck grabbed four apiece, Steve Ward got three and Buddy Hamic got one. In addition, Robinson wiped a pitchout in the Florida game and returned for a touchdown.

FIVE GAMES ON TAP TODAY

Post Season Grid Action Gets Started With A Bang

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

College football's annual postseason extravaganza starts staging its biggest acts Saturday, with stars galore and a supporting cast of hundreds performing from Florida to California.

On Saturday's program are the Gator and Sun Bowls at Jacksonville, Fla., and El Paso, Tex., and three all-star games, the East-West at San Francisco, the Blue-Gray at Montgomery, Ala., and the All-America at Tucson, Ariz.

On Monday come the glamorous New Year's Day attractions, the Rose, Sugar, Cotton and Orange Bowls.

Two teams with 7-3 records, Georgia Tech and Penn State, meet in the 17th Gator Bowl game before a capacity crowd of something over 50,000 and a national television (CBS) audience. Both Rip Engle's Penn State Nittany Lions who have been having stiff workouts, and Bobby Dodd's Tech team, which has prepped for the game in the usual easy-going Dodd style, appear fit and ready for what shapes up as a close one.

Dodd's teams have won eight times in nine bowl appearances and the Engineers are slight favorites. Kickoff time is 2:15 p.m., EST.

Dodd and Engle expressed satisfaction on the tone of their squad's final tuneups and both hinted strongly the emphasis would be on attack. Penn State has a fine all-purpose quarterback in Galen Hall and a flyaway threat in Roger Kochman. Stan Gann at quarter and Billy Williamson and Mike McNames at the halfback spots are Tech's top offensive guns.

A classic contrast, sharp offense vs. rugged defense, seems likely in the 27th Sun Bowl. Hank Foldberg's Wichita Shockers (8-2) are expected to play it wide open against the bigger Villanova Wildcats (7-2) of Alex Bell. A crowd of 12,500 is anticipated for this game, which is to be televised ABC) starting at 4 p.m., EST.

Wichita utilizes its wealth of talent in a pro-type offense directed by alternating quarterbacks, both 19-year-old juniors. Alex Zyskowski stresses passing, while Bill Stangarone does more running. Foldberg is coaching the Shockers for the last time. After two 8-2 seasons and a pair of Missouri Valley titles, he is taking over as head coach and athletic director at Texas A&M next year.

Villanova's tough defense limited the opposition to 173 yards per game this year and gave up only 80 points, 38 in its seven victories and 42 in losses to Boston College and Detroit.

The East-West will show off a host of football luminaries in the 37th edition of the Shrine charity game, which benefits the hospital for crippled children.

Headliners on Joe Kuharich's favored East team include Ernie Davis of Syracuse, Bob Ferguson of Ohio State, and Roman Gabriel of North Carolina State in the backfield and Fate Echols of Northwestern, Irv Goode of Kentucky, Nick Buoniconti of Notre Dame and Gary Collins of Maryland on the line.

The West, coached by Jim Owens, numbers Ron Bull of Baylor, Curtis McClinton and John Hadl of Kansas and Wyoming's Chuck Lamson among its backs, with Merlin Olsen of Utah State anchoring a giant line.

A full house of 59,000 will be on hand at Kezar Stadium for the game, with television coverage (NBC) beginning at 5 p.m., EST.

The Blue-Gray pairs a North squad coached by Syracuse's Ben Schwartzwalder against a South team coached by Ray Graves of Florida. Schwartzwalder has several of his own Syracuse players on hand, including Dave Sarette, who'll start at quarterback as the Blue tries for its fourth straight victory. Sarette's counterpart will be Auburn's Bobby Hunt.

Kickoff for the Blue-Gray is at 2 p.m., EST, with an expected crowd of 22,000. It will be carried on network TV (NBC).

Stars from big schools go against boys from smaller colleges in the All-America game. Andy Gustafson of Miami, Fla., has his fine end, Bill Miller, on the major squad, along with All-America center Alex Kroll of Rutgers, quarterback Eddie Wilson of Arizona and halfback Benny McRae of Michigan. Dave Nelson's small college roster includes the fleet Leroy Jackson of Western Illinois, fullback Bob Jackson of New Mexico State and center Curtis Miranda of Florida A&M. Game time is 4:30 p.m., EST.

Minnesota, Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana State are favored in the four New Year's Day classics, all of which will be televised.

Minnesota (7-2) of the Big Ten faces Big Five champion UCLA (7-3) in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena (5 p.m., EST, NBC-TV), with All-American Sandy Stephens directing the Gophers' wing-T against the Bruins' single wing, sparked by tailbacks Bobby Smith and Mike Haffner.

National champion Alabama (10-0) is a solid choice against Arkansas (8-2) in the New Orleans Sugar Bowl (2 p.m., EST, NBC-TV). 'Bama is stacked but might find it hard to win by the quoted two touchdowns, since Arkansas has a knack of getting up for big ones.

It's expected to be close but free-wheeling when Mississippi (9-1) and Texas (9-1) tangle in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas (2:30 p.m., EST, CBS-TV). Both like to operate at full throttle.

LSU (9-1) and Colorado (9-1) are rivals in the Orange Bowl at Miami (1 p.m., EST, ABC-TV). The experts say LSU has too much in all departments for the Buffaloes.

FOR STYRON TWINS

Sugar Bowl Meet Is Old Stuff Now

Competing in the Sugar Bowl Track Meet is old stuff to Northeast State's Styron twins, slated to participate in four events at the New Orleans track and field carnival Dec. 31.

Dave and Don Styron have run in the Sugar Bowl affair three times previously, in 1958, 1959 and January of this year. The track meet usually held in late December, was held Jan. 1, 1961, instead of in December, 1960.

In 1958, the Styrons, Dick Hays and Jim Mouser produced the surprise of the meet by winning the mile relay over major college opposition with a 3:19 clocking. In 1959, the same foursome won the 1,600-meter relay in 3:14.5, and Dave Styron took first place in the 100-meter dash with a 10.8 time last January.

Dave was fourth in the 100-yard dash in 1958 while brother Don placed third in the 120-yard high hurdles the same year. Don moved up to second in the 110-meter high hurdles in 1959 while Dave competed in the 100 meters. Don also ran the high hurdles last January.

Next Sunday the Styrons will run on the mile relay and sprint relay teams, Don will compete in the high hurdles and Dave in the 100-yard dash. Don is the world record holder in the 220-yard low hurdles with a 21.9 time and has run the high hurdles in 13.7.

Five other Northeast State athletes are scheduled to compete in New Orleans Sunday. John Pennel, who cleared 15¼ in 1960, is to compete in the pole vault, Jay Goldsmith and Charles McDonald will run in the sprint relay and Randall Walker and John Baker will run the mile relay with the Styrons, forming a foursome that shows promise of bettering marks left by the great combination of the Styrons, Hays and Mouser.

Walker will also run the 440.

All of the Northeast State athletes will participate as unattached entries because of Gulf States Conference rules.

Another Northeast runner, distance ace Don "Buddy" Eiland, GSC mile champion, was invited to the Sugar Bowl affair but decided not to participate.

Competition for the Northeast trackmen in the Sugar Bowl meet promises to be rugged. Pennel faces an especially strong field in the pole vault. Meet record holder Aubrey Dooley, formerly of Oklahoma State, is entered, along with George Davies, another ex-Oklahoma State vaulter, David Clark, a member of the U.S. Olympic team from North Texas State, and LSU's Joe Harris. Dooley's Sugar Bowl record is 15-4¾ while Davies' career high is 15-10¾.

Don Styron's top competition in the hurdles is expected to come from defending champ Rex Stucker of Kansas State, Rex Cawley of Southern California, Billy Hardin of LSU and Ray Cunningham of Texas.

Ralph Alspaugh of the Abilene Athletic Club is rated one of the top dash men in the meet while Earl Young of Abilene Christian is the favorite in the 440.

Cotton Bowl Fever Rises; Time Nears

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Cotton Bowl fever started to rise Friday as the time neared for the competing teams — Mississippi and Texas—to come to town.

The Rebels and Longhorns will fly in Saturday morning, be given the traditional welcome along with cowboy hats and immediately hit the practice field where their "plain vanilla" football tactics will go on display.

The 75,000 who crowd into the big saucer Monday to watch Texas try to fell a team that has grown in stature with each game aren't likely to see any fancy stuff but on the other hand watch some hard-nosed football.

There are bound to be some sensational runs and passes since these two teams are noted for quick-striking plays but the heralded "flip-flop offense" of the Longhorns is nothing new and is so fundamental that the crowd won't even notice it.

It's a revival of the single wing plan of attack—just moving the linemen and halfbacks from one side to the other so they don't have to learn different blocking assignments.

Mississippi has the winged-T with the fullback and quarterback featured and spawning the goldarndest passing attack you ever saw.

Texas and Mississippi each has a 9-1 record and the way they lost their games might be a tip-off on what to expect in the Cotton Bowl battle.

Mississippi figures it was superior punting on the part of Louisiana State that caused the Rebels to take a 10-7 loss. Texas dropped to Texas Christian 6-0 because its pass defense leaked just once.

Texas is a better kicking team than Mississippi, the figures show, while Mississippi is stronger in the air than Texas.

The Texas squad was due to arrive at 1 a.m. Saturday, coming in only 15 minutes before Mississippi. Both squads will hold workouts in the afternoon. Mississippi will work at the high school stadium. Texas wil practice at the Southern Methodist University Stadium.

OR RATHER, COACHES DO

Bengals, Buffaloes Have Opposite Workout Views

By BOB HOOSING

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Colorado, the Orange Bowl underdog, is gambling against an old football maxim that a team can leave its game on the practice field through too much punishment.

Louisiana State and the Buffaloes have worked harder preparing for their Monday meeting than any teams within memory here. But they have chosen decidedly different courses.

Not since Kentucky's "blood and guts" pre-game sessions in 1949 (lost to Santa Clara 21-13), has a team hit so hard and so often as Colorado. Coach Sonny Grandelius put the Buffs through a week of tough scrimmaging before journeying here, then had his boys butting heads for four out of five days including Christmas.

Like its rival, LSU completed contact work Thursday. The Tigers have done most of their perspiring in honing their timing, execution and defensive coverage against "live" opposition. However, the blocks have been few and the tackles fewer.

"We looked ragged but that's par for the course," Tiger mentor Paul Dietzel said Thursday night. "We're never satisfied. There will be no more scrimmaging. If we don't know who can hit by now we never will."

Dietzel may have hit on the crux of all the bone-rattling across town when he said:

"Colorado is tougher physically than most teams we've played. It is a little stronger because the players are so much bigger."

Although Grandelius won't say so, he apparently feels his big men can take all the practice hammering, and need it.

The subject of LSU and its three-unit substitution system is not mentioned by the Colorado coaching staff to the players. They don't want to put the Buffs on edge about numbers. But Grandelius in this scrimmaging is getting his key men accustomed to the ceaseless pounding they can expect from wave upon wave of Louisianians.

There's another side to the Colorado gamble, too. Grandelius feels the harder he drove his squad during the week in the season the better it played Saturday. The week he let up, Colorado lost its only game to the opponent considered the most likely victim—Utah.

A near capacity crowd of over 70,000 plus a national television audience (ABC-TV, 1 p.m., EST) will get its answer as to the better approach to a bowl game Monday.

N SUGAR BOWL

Jinx Hangs Over Mighty 'Bama 11

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Like most great sports events, the Sugar Bowl has its jinx. And the dark cloud will hang over Alabama when the Crimson Tide meets Arkansas in the 28th staging of the football extravaganza on New Year's Day.

Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant's Alabama team, the national champions of 1961, has twice appeared in the Sugar Bowl—and lost both games. As a matter of cold statistics, 'Bama has played in 14 bowl games and the Sugar Bowl is the only game where it has shown more than once and has a losing mark.

Nothing such as this can haunt Arkansas, making its debut in New Orleans. That is, nothing except the two-touchdown favoritism accorded the Crimson Tide.

Alabama last played in the Sugar Bowl in 1948 when Bobby Layne and his mighty herd of Texans whipped the Tide 27-7. Three years earlier, 'Bama lost to Duke 29-26 in what has been called the greatest of all Sugar Bowl games. Harry Gilmer, then an 18-year-old freshman, completed all eight of his jump passes that day in a great aerial display for the losing Tide.

But Monday's game looks like the turning point for the Red Elephants, at least as far as the Sugar Bowl is concerned.

Alabama whipped — smothered might be a better word—all 10 opponents during the regular season and shut out five of them. The Tide allowed only 22 points during the season and chalked up college football's best defensive record.

Bryant has blended with his usual brand of leather-tough, rock-hard football an effective offense lead by quarterback Pat Trammell, who was the total offense leader in the rugged Southeastern Conference.

Arkansas, with a great running back in Lance Alworth, may have different ideas by the 1 p.m., CST, kickoff time and is certainly bent on upsetting the national champs before the 83,000 fans and a national television audience (NBC).

Arkansas lost two of its 10 games—to Msisissippi and Texas who play in the Cotton Bowl—but the Razorbacks were a tough squad by season's end.

The form says Alabama will break its Sugar Bowl jinx and the Tide's might probably will prevail. But with a hex to work with, this Arkansas squad may provide 'Bama with another dark, day.

Wichita Team Favored Over Sun Bowl Foe

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Oddsmakers across the border in Juarez, Mexico, rate the speedy and surprising Wichita Shockers a six-point choice over Villanova in Saturday's Sun Bowl football game. But Villanova Coach Alex Bell, in a dream Thursday night, saw it differently.

"I dreamed we were ahead 14-3 at the end of the first half," Bell said. "I figured if I had kept on dreaming we would have scored two more touchdowns in the last half."

Villanova has looked sharp in its three workouts since arriving Tuesday.

Wichita finally made it Friday. The Shockers' chartered plane developed engine trouble shortly after takeoff from Wichita. The plane returned and the trip was delayed a day.

Villanova (7-2), the country's seventh best defensive team, will outweigh Wichita 216-199 pounds per man on the line. The big Wildcat forward wall limited its opponents to 71.1 yards a game rushing—third best among major colleges.

The Shockers, the Missouri Valley Conference champions with an 8-2 record, will try to generate a surprise for Villanova — something they've done to each opponent this season. A pair of flashy 19-year-old quarterbacks, Alex Zyskowski and Bill Stangarone, make Coach Hank Foldberg's pro-style slot offense go. Zyskowski is the top passer while Stangarone is a tricky runner on rollout.

The nationally televised (ABC) meeting of the two clubs will be their third. Villanova won the opener 24-6 in 1957 and Wichita won the return match 21-6 in 1958.

An estimated 11,500 persons, 1,300 less than capacity, is expected for the 4 p.m., EST kickoff. The game will be blacked out in El Paso unless the remaining 1,300 tickets are sold.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Casey Stengel is the only man to be affiliated with all four of New York's modern baseball teams — as player with the Dodgers and Giants, manager of the Dodgers and Yankees and now manager of the new Mets of the National League.

Kansas State 5 Take Big Eight Tournament Win

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Kansas State fought off repeated challenges by a grity group of Missouri Tigers to earn a 62-57 victory in the semifinals of the Big Eight Basketball Tournament Friday night.

Iowa State and Oklahoma met in the other semifinal.

In afternoon consolation games, Nebraska beat Oklahoma 52-51 and Kansas defeated Colorado 75-66.

Not until the final gun were the fifth-ranked Kansas State Wildcats assured of victory.

The underdog Tigers played the tall Wildcats practically to a standstill. The lead changed hands 19 times and the score was tied 15 times.

In the end it was Mike Wroblewski, K-State's 6-foot-8 center, who saved the beleaguered Wildcats. He hit three consecutive free throws in the final 35 seconds to wrap up Kansas State's ninth victory in 10 games. Wroblewski was high scorer with 22 points.

Missouri's hopes for an upset were dampened in the second half as Ken Doughty fouled out with 10:10 left and ace sophomore Ray Bob Carey was banished with 6:30 left. Doughty and Gary Dye shared scoring honors for Missouri with 10 each.

EXPECT HIGH OF 25 DEGREES

Packers Predict Victory If Gridiron Isn't Frozen

By JACK HAND

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) The confident Green Bay Packers were at full strength for Friday's final heavy workout on a practice field a few hours before the New York Giants arrived for Sunday's National Football League title game.

Jesse Whittenton and Bill Quinlan left the hospital where they had been confined with a touch of the flu. All hands were proclaimed ready for action by Coach Vince Lombardi.

Even the weatherman was optimistic with a forecast for temperatures of around 25 for the big game and only a slight chance of snow flurries. Green Bay was not exactly Miami Beach, however. The thermometer read eight above zero when the Packers worked and crept up to 12 before its nightly plunge into sub-zero regions.

"Everybody is ready," said Lombardi, obviously pleased with the last workout.

The club will do nothing more than loosen up for 15 minutes Saturday.

"Jim Taylor (injured back) is running much better," said Lombardi. "John Symank (collarbone separation) will play. So will Max McGee (rib injury). The extra week helped everybody. Paul Hornung (on leave from the Army) looks a lot better after a week of work. The tougher the game, the better he plays."

For the benefit of late arrivals, Lombardi repeated his earlier statement: "If the field is right, we should win."

Again he explained the "wrong" kind of field for him would be frozen or slippery surface favoring pass receivers who can control their cuts better than defenders.

The hay-covered tarpaulin in City Stadium was peeled back in the corner of one end zone Friday morning, giving everyone a peek at the green grass underneath. The turf was firm but not frozen. Football cleats cut into it. Unless there is a hard freeze Sunday after the tarp is removed, Lombardi plans to have his Packers wear regular football shoes.

Lombardi said he expected 1,600 tickets, turned back by the league, would be sold before game time, making a capacity crowd of 41,000 fans at $10 a copy.

The Giants also reported all hands in good shape, including Alex Webster, Rosie Borwn and Joe Walton, who were hurt in the last game with Cleveland.

"I am not worried about the condition of the field," said Coach Allie Sherman before leaving New York. "Both teams have to play on the same field."

Sherman wouldn't name a starting quarterback but most people expected Y.A. Tittle to start with 40-year-old Charlie Conerly available for bullpen duty. Sherman used Conerly as a relief man in several games recently, including the 20-17 defeat by Green Bay Dec. 3.

"Conerly surprised the heck out of us that day," said Lombardi. "We sent word in to look out for the short passes. Instead the son of a gun threw four bombs."

Lombardi drew a 10-year weather survey out of his desk. It showed that snow had not fallen in Green Bay on Dec. 31 in 10 years, and the mean temperature had been 26 above.

"I'll settle for the 20s if the field is in good shape," he said.

The Packer boss refused to be pinned down on any score prediction. Would 2-0 be enough?

"I'd settle for 1-0," he said with a grin.

The only way a football game can end 1-0 is by forfeit.

Lombardi said he thought this year's team was better than the 1960 club that lost to Philadelphia 17-13 on a slippery field in the title game.

"This is a young club," he said. "The boys have a year's more experience and do things a little better. Our bench is better too. Our biggest loss was Jerry Kramer (out for the season with an ankle injury). He was the best guard in the league. With him out here, we had to move Forrest Gregg, an all-pro tackle, to guard."

Lombardi said the Packers were "way off their peak" when they played the Giants last time. He considers their 49-17 victory over Cleveland on Oct. 15 the club's best effort.

"We weren't very sharp on the coast either," he said. "If we had to play this game last Sunday, we wouldn't have been able to use Taylor, McGee or Symank."

The best Lombardi would say was that he "hopes" his club is close to its midseason peak.

"What can you tell in a dummy scrimmage?" he asked.

The giants worked out in New York Friday morning. They will follow the Packers to the practice field for a brief drill Saturday morning.

SHRINE GAME

East Is Favored; West Asks Why

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The East's "million dollar backfield," riding high behind a powerful line, was installed as a 7½-point favorite Friday to whip the West in the 37th annual Shrine grid classic at Kezar Stadium Saturday.

With All-Americans Ernie Davis of Syracuse, Bob Ferguson of Ohio State and Roman Gabriel of North Carolina State pushing the attack, the gamblers believe the West won't have a look-in.

A crowd of about 58,000 is expected to jam the stadium to watch the battle, however. Kickoff time is 4:45 p.m. EST and the game will be televised nationally (NBC).

While Davis, the Heisman trophy winner, is the center of speculation, coach Joe Kuharich of the East refuses to predict that the man from Elmira, N.Y., will be the star.

"It's hard to tell in a game like this," says Kuharich. "It could be any one of the 24 players on either side. That's how good these boys are."

The members of the West team are somewhat amazed that they should be such underdogs. Most of the players on this squad are big-time performers, too — and they are not used to being put in the "no chance" role.

While pro scouts have been thick at both camps one of the top men in pro ranks offered this opinion.

"Davis has been getting all the headlines. But I can tell you this Curt McClendon of Kansas can do everything that Davis can do. And he's also bigger and faster. If Kansas had been playing in the East, McClendon certainly would have been the Heisman Trophy winner."

Just one man's opinion. But McClendon is good. He'll be in the starting backfield for the West along with his Kansas teammate, quarterback John Hadl; sprint star Mack Burton of San Jose State and fullback Ronnie Bull of Baylor.

The "big" men in the West line are a pair of tackles from Utah State, 265-pound Merlin Olsen, an All-American ace; and 250-pound Clark Miller. They have been signed by the Los Angeles Rams and San Francisco Forty Niners.

For those watching on TV, the men to look for on the offensive, aside from the backfield starters mentioned, will be Angelo Daberio of Notre Dame and Gary Ballman, Michigan State, who may be doing some pass receiving, and ends Gary Collins, Maryland, another All-America and Lou Kirouac; Boston College. These all are from the East.

For the West, the potential receivers, besides Burton, McClinton and Bull are Buddy Iles, Texas Christian; Bobby Lane, Baylor and Oscar Donahue, San Jose State.

While Hadl and Gabriel are the starting quarters, the chances are strong that Ron Miller of Wisconsin for the East and Mel Melin of Washington State for the West will see a lot of action.

Hawks Hit Again

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The St. Louis Hawks learned Friday that they will probably have to play out the rest of this disappointing National Basketball Association season without the services of veteran backliner John McCarthy. He underwent surgery for correction of torn ligaments of the left knee Thursday and will be hospitalized for a week or more.

OVER PENN STATE

Georgia Tech Favored In Gator Bowl Contest

By VERNON BUTLER

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Georgia Tech, making its usual relaxed and casual approach, was a shaky three-point favorite Friday over grim, hard-working Penn State on the eve of the 17th Gator Bowl football game.

Winter struck North Florida during the week, chasing temperatures below the freezing level and making Penn State feel perfectly at home at the Nittany Lions' training base 35 miles to the Southeast in St. Augustine.

The weather man predicted a slight warming trend by 2:15 p.m. EST, kickoff time Saturday and guessed the temperature might go as high as 54 degrees, but he didn't sound too confident.

A capacity crowd of 50,000 fans is expected for Tech's 15th bowl appearance and Penn State's fifth. The game will be televised nationally (CBS). Tech boasts an 11-3 post-season record and is 8-1 under Coach Bobby Dodd. Penn State has won twice in bowls, lost once and had one tie.

Under silver-haired Coach Rip Engle, however, the Eastern champions are unbeaten in bowl activity and are playing in their third straight.

Penn State altered its training plans Friday and came to Jacksonville for a light workout in sweat clothes at a baseball park adjacent to the Gator Bowl Stadium.

"We decided to let our boys get a good look at the Gator Bowl field before Saturday," Engle explained. "We got caught cold at Miami early in the season and took a bad beating."

Penn State conducted its final hard workout Thursday and Engle pronounced it very satisfactory.

Tech players converged on Jacksonville Thursday from their homes after a 12-day vacation. Dodd, who doesn't believe in strenuous workouts for bowl games, sent them through a brisk, 90-minute drill and said the Yellow Jackets were ready for a top effort. Tech tapered off with a light Friday session.

"I believe it will take three touchdowns to win this one," Dodd remarked. "Penn State has proved it can move the ball on anybody, and we think we have a good offense, too. It's going to be a close game, and I would guess about three touchdowns to two."

Engle declined to speculate.

"I just hope we score the most," he said. "We are convinced after studying their films that Tech is a great defensive team. It will be tough trying to score on them."

Dodd paid high compliments to Penn State quarterback Galen Hall and halfback Roger Kochman.

"I'd compare Hall with Pat Trammell of Alabama," Dodd declared. "He won't give you anything. He doesn't make mistakes. He's a strong runner for short yardage, and he is especially good on short passes. Kochman has great speed as well as size (6-1 and 195 pounds). He can run over you or around you."

Dodd pins his hopes for a strong offense on "the best line blocking we have had at Tech in years" and a swift backfield headed by 160-pound halfback Billy Williamson and stubby, 165-pound quarterback Stan Gann.

NY Giants Arrive Late At Green Bay

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—The New York Giants arrived at Austin Straubel Field here about two hours later than expected Friday afternoon.

After a slight delay for television cameramen, the Giants went to their hotel to rest up for final brief workouts before Sunday's National Football League title game with the Green Bay Packers.

A Giant spokesman said the late arrival was due to an extra-long practice session in New York earlier Friday.

KICKOFF AT ONE

Blue-Gay Clubs Take Final Drills

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Rival coaches shuffled their squads into offensive and defensive units Friday and went through final polishing-up drills for Saturday's Blue-Gray gridiron show.

Clear weather was forecast for the kickoff at 1 p.m., CST, with the temperature around 50 degrees.

The 23rd annual all-star game will be on nationwide television (NBC). A crowd of 20,000 or so is expected at Cramton Bowl.

Rebel coaches led by Ray Graves of Florida vowed that the "South must rise again" after three consecutive defeats. But the Yankees were favored to run their string to four.

The odds in favor of the North were influenced by an offensive line averaging 221 pounds and a starting backfield at 200.

Calling the signals for the Yanks will be Syracuse's sharp quarterback Dave Sarette, who will have his teammate, halfback Dick Easterly, at one backfield post.

At the other backfield spot will be 200-pound Jim Dillard from Oklahoma State, and for the tough line-cracking duties, head Coach Ben Schwartzwalder of Syracuse has chosen 230-pound fullback Bill Tunnicliff of Michigan.

On the line when the Blues have the ball will be Scott Maentz of Michigan and Dave Viti of Boston U. at ends; Dick Feidler of Syracuse and Bud Melvin of Northwester at tackles; Paul Henley of Missouri and Sherwyn Thorson of Iowa at guard, and Robert Stem of Syracuse at center.

Graves and his associates pick Bobby Hunt of Auburn to run the Rebels' offense at the outset, along with Butch Blume of Rice and Alan White of Wake Forest at halfback and Florida's big Don Goodman at fullback.

Up front, on offense, the Grays will have Dave Edwards of Auburn and Don Coffey of Memphis State at end; Ray Osbourne of Mississippi State and Bill Hudson of Memphis State at tackles; Don Jackson of TCU and Jim LeCompte of North Carolina at guard, and Wayne Frazier of Auburn at the pivot.

Co-captains are Sarette and defensive halfback Ed Ryan of Michigan State for the North and Hunt and center Mike Lucci of Tennessee for the Rebels.

YOUR PROBLEMS

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I'm 16 and the kids have nick-named me Jezebel because I can get any fellow I want. I used to be proud of it but something happened that has made me ashamed of myself.

I went after my best friend's steady and got him away. She took it awfully hard. I had no idea he meant so much to her. The poor kid lost 11 pounds and wouldn't go any place but to school for three weeks.

Now I'm tired of this fellow and I want to ditch him. But how can I after I put on such a campaign to get him? Also he's crazy about me and he might take it tough. Tell me what to do. —MAN THIEF

Dear Thief: Call a spade a meat-ax (in recognition of the hatchet job you did on your best friend) and tell the fellow goodbye.

Don't worry about the boy. He sounds like a fickle pickle who probably has his next girl all picked out.

Dear Ann Landers: Two years ago at the age of 58 I gave up a good paying job to marry a man 60. He would not allow me to work.

His two married children are in their late 20's. They bleed him for every dollar they can get. It makes me sick but I say nothing. I have two married daughters and I am unable to give them even a small gift because I am always so broke.

I hate the word divorce, but how can I stay in this set-up without blowing my top? Do you feel that a wife (a second one) should come before a man's married children? —BROW-BEATEN

Dear Brow-Beaten: A wife (even a second one) should come before married children. But if she must demand precedence, the relationship is unhealthy.

You should have an allowance so that gifts for your children can be purchased without clearing them through your husband. Every woman whose husband is employed ought to have a little money in her purse to do with as she chooses—as a matter of self respect.

Dear Ann Landers: No sermons, please. I know right from wrong and all that rot. Just tell me if a married woman can give her child the name of his real father. Or does she have to put her husband's name on the baby's birth certificate?

This is sort of a mess and I need to know soon. —HOSPITAL BOUND

Dear Bound: It sounds like a mess all right, and don't make it any messier by passing the word that the baby's father is not your husband.

According to law your husband is the baby's father, so let it be!!!

CONFIDENTIAL TO "Heart of Stone": Yes and he has a head to match. Any individual who uses the phrase "trashy foreigner" is ignorant. This country was made great by immigrants. If this bird's great grandmother had missed the boat where do you think Mr. Fancy-pants would be right now?

Are you tempted to smoke because the crowd does? If so, send for "Ann Landers'" booklet, "Teenage Smoking," enclosing with your request 10 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Have you read Ann Landers' new book? "Since You Ask Me" is available at all book stores at $3.50.

TOTEM POLES, GOODBY

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP)—One of British Columbia's top totem pole carvers is ready to throw in the chisel.

"I would like to get back to a 20th Century job for a while," says Bill Reid, 42. "I feel I'm becoming a living monument and it's not my idea of a permanent occupation."

Reid, whose mother was a Haida Indian and father a white man, has spent the past two and a half years carving huge cedar logs into totem poles and other symbolic figures of the Haida Tribe. He got the assignment from the University of British Columbia.

Before taking up carving, Reid was an announcer with 20 years in radio. He isn't sure what he'll turn to next.

BEGIN TRADE TALKS

HAVANA (AP)—Soviet Union and Cuban officials began talks Thursday on a 1962 trade agreement. Sugar is the chief Cuban export to the Soviet Union whose products shipped to Cuba include trucks, oil and canned foods.

Future Clothes: Wear One Day -- Discard Next

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — Paper shirts, aprons and sheets — to be discarded when soiled — are goods the American housewife will have in the future.

And in other consumer goods, she's way ahead of her counterpart behind the "Iron Curtain," according to Dr. J. Gibson Pleasants, vice president of research and development for a soap firm (Procter & Gamble).

Pleasants said his company spends "several million dollars" annually developing new products, has 500 scientists on the job, and tries to beat competition from anywhere in the world.

They've examined Soviet soaps, toilet articles and washing powders brought back by tourists from Russia.

"The samples we've seen were pretty much run-of-the-mill, though not gruesome," said Pleasants. "We don't feel they're at all well-informed or sophisticated on consumer products. They seem to ignore the amenities of civilization."

The paper shirts, aprons and sheets still are "blue sky" items, said Pleasants. But his firm's paper division does have them under consideration.

More immediately the American housewife can look forward to new washing powders with bleaching and rinse additives to soften fabrics and make ironing easier, he said.

Israeli Recipe Main Dish For Americans

NEW YORK (UPI) Tarmigolet Tsabar, an Israeli main dish, is chicken a la Sabra, so called for cactus fruit which is prickly outside, with a soft center.

Quarter 2 broilers (2½ to 3 pounds each) and coat them with flour, salt, pepper and paprika. Lightly brown in 1 cup of vegetable shortening melted in a skillet.

Remove chicken to large flat casserole, drain off most of the fat and add to skillet 2 cups of orange juice, 1 cup of dry red wine, 2 large sliced red onions, 1 teaspoon of salt, ¼ teaspoon of black pepper, 1½ teaspoons of powdered thryme and ½ cup of olive liquor made by simmering 3 or 10 oil-cured ripe olives in ½ cup of water for 10 minutes.

Simmer sauce 3 minutes and pour over chicken. Bake 1 hour at 350 degrees, basting occasionally. Top with ½ cup of pitted, slivered oil-cured olives and bake 30 minutes more, or until tender. Serves 4 to 8.

Canned pitted ripe olives may be substituted for the oil-cured variety. In that case, use ½ cup of liquid drained from can and increase salt to 2 teaspoons.

DOGS TAKE BIG BITE

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dogs are big biters in Los Angeles, with more than 6,000 victims in 1961, says the Department of Animal Regulation.

But other creatures from coatis to kinkajous have also gotten in on the feast. Four persons were bitten by apes, say the statistics, with others providing the fare for ocelots and opossums.

Second and third on the list are cats and hamsters, with more than 900 and 150 victims respectively.

Some Dirty Togs Need Rub-A-Dub To Come Clean

CHICAGO (UPI) — A home laundry specialist advises going back to some of grandma's techniques for washing durables — including bath towels, bobby sox, underwear and sheets.

Mrs. Jessie Cartwright contends that housewives have forgotten how to wash these items in the course of learning all about washing nylons, dacrons, treated cottons and stuffed toys.

"As a result, the everyday cloth and linens come out of the automatic washer gray, yellow, spotted, stained, creased and dingy," he told delegates to the recent National Home Laundry Conference.

Mrs. Cartwright director of home economics for a laundry equipment manufacturer (Norge division of Borg - Warner), suggests a return to these time-tested principles for washing durables.

— Sort white clothes from colored.

— Use cleaning fluid to remove grease and other non - water soluble stains and spots.

— Cold - soak stained articles before putting in hot water.

—Rub heavy soil marks and linens with a detergent before washing.

—Wash heavily - soiled greasy work clothes separately for about five minutes in hot water with sufficient detergent.

— Use hot water, at least 140 degrees.

—Scrub and soak bobby sox in bleach before washing.

— Do not overload the washer.

— Use soft water or, at least, soften the rinse.

—Soak baby clothes and diapers in cool water before washing in hot water, then rinse and rinse in soft or softened water, using no highly alkalized solutions to avoid diaper rash.

Lambda Sigma Chi Sorority Presents Annual Christmas Dance On Friday

"Twas the Night Before Christmas," the theme of the annual Christmas Dance given by Lambda Sigma Chi Sorority on the Virginia Roof on Friday evening, December 22, was carried out by Santa and his reindeer and a gaily decorated Christmas tree. Tiny charms in the shape of trees were given as favors to the members, and music was furnished by "Cookie and the Cupcakes."

The chaperones were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Parrish, J. B. McKinley, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Weir, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Murray and Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Jackson.

Climaxing the evening was the presentation of Lambda Sigma Chi pins and gifts to the sponsors Mrs. Fred Parrish, Mrs. J. B. McKinley, Mr. Bill Etheridge, and Mr. Mike Riley. President Carolyn Murray presented Louise Weir, chairman of the dance, with a gift of appreciation for her work. Miss Murray was presented a bouquet of roses.

Following the dance a breakfast was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Wilhite.

Space Expert Predicts Moon, Mars Landings

CHICAGO (UPI) — A leading U.S. space expert predicted Thursday that Americans would land on the moon by 1970 or 1971 and would touch down on Mars by 1976.

Dr. Krafft A. Ehricke, program director of the Centaur project of Convair Astronautics and space consultant to the secretary of defense and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, made his predictions in an article written for the Young People's Science Encyclopedia, now being edited.

Ehricke's timetable included a 3-man flight around the moon in 1968 and manned reconnaissance flights to Mars and Venus in 1973-76.

The moon landing will be made in a Nova atomic-powered space ship, Ehricke said.

Chemically powered rockets will be succeeded by nuclear and electrically powered space ships in the 1970's, he said.

Your Baby And Mine

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

Almost anything possible to say about any subject can be refuted by someone. This is true of the subject of pets which always brings out letters of varying opinions.

Some persons say, "Every child should have a pet," while others say, "It's cruel to animals to subject them to the unthinking treatment of small children." Perhaps, in a sense, both are correct—but the differences are not irreconcilable.

Children do need pets. They need them to love and observe and play with. They need them to develop responsibility. But pets need not be just dogs and cats, of which people think first. They may be fish, or turtles, or birds, or guinea pigs. Unhappily, some of these more fragile pets die, and this is always heartbreaking to their small owners.

Should Be Stable

If the pet is to be a cat or dog, it should be a stable animal of some growth—so say the experts. If the animal is old enough, it understands better than a puppy or kitten that its owner means it no harm when it grabs it hurtfully.

It should be a type of dog or cat which likes children, as not all do. My early experience with a dog was with a fighty, little black and tan fox terrier. Whenever I appeared he jumped upon me scratching my legs and tearing my stockings (Children wore them, then). It tore my frilly petticoats as they hung on the clothes line. I was terrified of this little terrier. He ended his fiery career by being run over.

Calmer dogs, dogs which understand children, would be better choices.

One Task

Too much responsibility for caring for the pets should not be put on the child. It isn't fair to the pet to deprive it of food and water just because the child forgets.

Perhaps one task a day is enough, and this one Mama-dictated until it becomes habitual. Then add another task. Meanwhile, bird cages must be kept clean, water changed for the fish and all fed regularly.

Up until about the fourth year a child, in most instances, does not need a pet. After that age he most assuredly does and will appreciate and love it. It's certain that if, after a trial, the child shows no inclination to treat the pet humanely, it should be sold or given to someone who will.

A toy "isn't" just a toy—it can be educational and still fun for the child. If you would like to have the 10-cent booklet, "Toys for Tots," which lists appropriate toys for tots from 3 months to 10 years, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

Conditions Right

MADISON, Wis. (UPI) — Gov. Gaylord Nelson Thursday signed into law a sales tax bill just a few minutes after his press secretary said it would be a cold day in Wisconsin before a Democratic governor would sign such a measure.

The press secretary wasn't all wrong — the temperature was 3 degrees below zero.

Looting Major Congo Problem

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga, the Congo (AP)—A U.N. spokesman said Friday African looting has become a serious problem in Elisabethville.

He told a news conference the United Nations had recovered a large tent full of looted goods and "we are trying to find the owners."

The spokesman added that joint U.N. and Katanga patrols will attempt to quell looting and arrest looters.

There has been at least one case of looting by whites, he said.

According to U.N. and Katanga sources, the worst of the thefts are taking place in the industrial section of Elisabethville.

Psychologist Says Mind Acts As Alarm Clock

CHICAGO (UPI)—You can "set your mind" to wake up at a given hour psychologist Jack Arbit said Friday in the current journal of the American Medical Association (AMA).

Arbit, of Northwestern University Medical School, said the ability to use the mind as an alarm clock is based on certain learned cues. He said body temperature is typical of the cues highly correlated with the depth of sleep.

"One might hypothesize, therefore," he said, "that in going to sleep a person may set the number of hours he might like to sleep and when a stimulus such as body temperature associated with this number of hours or depth of sleep occurs, there is a downward firing from the cortex (outer layer of the brain) to the wakefulness center."

New Low Recorded By Movie Industry

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—The year 1961 was a low water mark both financially and artistically for the movies.

Two pictures, both incomplete, all but crushed Hollywood's proudest studios, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and 20th Century-Fox. MGM's "Mutiny on the Bounty" became a laughing stock costing in the neighborhood of $20 million and requiring more than a year to shoot.

Fox's "Cleopatra" was off to a false start with Elizabeth Taylor's sickness. Everything had to be junked and restarted from scratch at a cost of uncounted millions.

In keeping with recent Movietown pronounciamentoes, "fewer but better pictures," there were considerably fewer films produced. But better?

Only 250 movies were released this year to qualify for Academy Award consideration, and 49 of those were foreign pictures — not to be confused with American films made abroad.

In 1950 Hollywood churned out 622 pictures. Last year the total was 387.

It doesn't take an electronic brain to figure that the so-called movie capital is on the skids. And along with financial catastrophy goes panic.

To recoup the lost audience movies have moved into questionable moral waters. Producers are using sex to lure patrons away from TV sets, but even such marginal films as "Parrish" and "Susan Slade" have failed to stem the decline.

Runaway production continued to plague guilds and unions.

Big budget films — "One, Two, Three," "El Cid," "Francis of Assisi" and "Lawrence of Arabia," not to mention "Cleopatra" —were made entirely abroad.

Continued growth of independent producers, the Mirish Co., stars forming their own units and "co-production" have reduced the once powerful studios to flabby releasing agencies.

For instance, Paramount Studios released 16 pictures this year, almost all of which were co-productions. MGM released only 20 films, 12 of which were made abroad, most of them co-productions with independent operators.

Television, the one-eyed living room monster, still gets credit or putting the whammy on movies.

But the slow moving studios finally decided to join the new medium instead of fighting a losing battle. MGM this year produced two new popular series, "Dr. Kildare" and "Father of the Bride," to go along with last year's hit, "National Velvet."

Fire Destroys 175 Bags Mail

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI)—An estimated 175 bags of mail were destroyed and another 175 were damaged in a mail car fire Friday.

The postal inspector's office said the mail consisted of parcel post and publications printed in Fort Atkinson, Wis. Officials asked that the name of the publication not be revealed.

The Milwaukee Road mail car contained a total of 1,200 sacks of mail. The fire broke out while the car was in the Milwaukee train yards. Its cause was not known.

The remainder of the undamaged mail was loaded on another car and sent on to Chicago.

'Big Four' Meet In Berlin Urged

BERLIN (UPI)—Mayor Willy Brandt of West Berlin Friday urged the Big Four foreign ministers to meet in Berlin to determine the future of the city which has become the major issue in the East-West cold war.

One incident marred what appeared to be an unwritten holiday "truce" along the East-West Berlin border during the day. A West Berlin policeman routed with a tear gas grenade an East German border guard throwing snowballs and ice over the Communist wall dividing the city.

Brandt told a news conference that the Big Four foreign ministers should hold any negotiations they may conduct on this divided city in Berlin.

"There is no better object lesson for a Berlin conference than Berlin itself," he said.

He said he expects a series of international conferences in 1962 And, he added, if there is a big power foreign ministers conference "I would be happy if the ministers conducted their work on the spot."

Brandt predicted new Communist pressures on West Berlin in 1962 but said he faced the new year with "cautious optimism."

"I know," he said, "that more serious burdens lie before us."

He did not speculate on possible Communist moves to follow up the "anti-refugee" wall the Reds built on the East-West Berlin border last August and the tightened controls on traffic within the city.

However, Western intelligence sources expect interference with the vital traffic from West Germany on the superhighways that extend 110 miles through East German territory to Berlin.

Brandt stressed that any agreement on Berlin must protect Western allied rights in the city, guarantee free traffic to Berlin, protect the city's economy and allow at least a minimum of contact between East and West Berlin.

Norris, Bell Plan Race In West Monroe

Mayor J. Allen Norris and former Mayor C. C. Bell Jr., of West Monroe will both be candidates for re-election to mayor in the Democratic primary election which will be held next April.

Mayor Norris, who has served as West Monroe Mayor for the past 10 years announced his candidacy earlier this week, while Bell made formal announcement Friday.

Bell said that "I more or less made up my mind about six months ago" to run for the post. He added that he had planned to make a formal announcement of his plans but was unable to do so.

Official speculation show that the possibility of other candidates for mayor can not be ruled out at this time.

Bell, who is the son of C. C. Bell Sr., who also served as mayor in August of 1947 as a result of the death of Mayor D. C. Golson who died of a heart attack while in office. He was re-elected in the 1950 election and served until August 1, 1952 when he resigned.

Bell resigned in protest of the appointment of three city aldermen by then - Governor Robert Kennon.

After Bell's resignation Mayor Norris was appointed to fill the vacancy and was later elected at a special election. He was re-elected to a full four year term in 1954 and again in 1958.

All five of the present members of the board of aldermen are expected to be candidates for re-election. The present aldermen are: Alton Burkett, C. E. Ponder, R. C. Jolissaint, Loy K. Heard and Ben Farmer.

Plot 'Sours' Guinea Ties With Soviet

CONAKRY, Guinea (AP) —A high government source said Friday between 15 and 20 persons convicted of an extensive antigovernment plot last month may soon face the firing squad.

The plot, about which there is considerable mystery, apparently has soured relations between President Sekou Toure's leftist authoritarian government and the Soviet Union. Some of those involved in the plot were Marxist teachers.

Toure's National Democratic party, the only one allowed in Guinea, concluded a four-day conference Thursday by asking for the death penalty for those convicted in the plot. The number convicted was not disclosed by the party.

A government source gave the number as between 15 and 20, however. At least 12 were arraigned last month, but seven were released.

Among those detained were two Marxists, Koumanian Keita, head of the West African Teachers Federation; and Ray Autra, a trade union leader.

The party conference, which controls Parliament, also recommended sweeping measures to tighten Toure's iron-fisted control into about every phase of Guinean life.

The measures appeared aimed at curbing the teachers union, merchants, intellectuals, students and trade unionists.

Toure charged in a speech recently that members of the teachers union held on charges of "subversive and antirevolutionary activity" had been in contact with "a certain Eastern embassy."

He said Eastern diplomats had been too eager in contacting revolutionary students and in recruiting young Guineans as spies.

Soviet Ambassador David Solod recently went home to Moscow. He attempted to give the impression he would be back. His departure resulted in reports published in London that he had been expelled, but this was denied by Guinea's diplomats in Moscow.

The Soviet Union announced this week that First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan is going to Conakry early next month, apparently to do a restorative job on Guinea-Soviet relations.

Following Toure's charges against Eastern embassies, his government moved to block contact between them and the Guinean people.

The Soviet Embassy apparently is the target, though it was not named, of a new law that forbids diffusion of propaganda. It also declares that invitations to Guineans for official and unofficial functions must be approved by the Foreign Ministry.

The party conference urged that secondary schools be reopened. They have been closed since student rioting last month. The students were protesting the arrest of several teachers who opposed the government.

Innocent Plea In Burglary Case Entered In Court

A 32 - year - old man charged with burglarizing a Monroe Church in 1956 pled innocent to the charge Friday in Fourth District Court.

Thomas Alvin Henkins a transient, was extradited from the penitentiary at Reidsville, North Carolina, to face the Ouachita Parish charges.

He is charged with entering St. Matthew's Catholic Church on Jackson Street from time to time between July 23 and Aug. 13, 1956, and with breaking into the box holding money donations for the poor.

Trial date will be set later.

British May Sell Planes To Red China

LONDON (AP)—Red China was reported Friday night to have begun talks for the purchase of a big new fleet of British turboprop airliners.

The prospective multimillion-dollar deal follows a recent contract under which the Peiping regime bought six Vickers Viscount airliners from this country despite the grumbles of the United States.

A spokesman of the Handley Page aircraft firm told a reporter "Aviation representatives of the Chinese People's Republic recently visited our and other British aircraft manufacturing companies. Preliminary discussions took place on the possible sale of the Handley Page Herald, which is a purely civil airliner, able to carry 52 passengers."

It is not on the list of strategic items which the Atlantic allies bar to Communist nations.

British government officials regard the sale of these modern airliners as a significant political breakthrough in the great wall of Peiping's isolation from the West. The Viscount deal and others which may follow will allow British technicians to enter Chinese territory.

Government men, in defense of the transaction, claim Peiping's approach to the West may reflect a desire to lessen Red Chinese dependence on the Soviet Union.

There is, nevertheless, little doubt that the U.S. government will view any new deal as coldly as it reacted to the Viscount transaction.

Buildup of Red China's civil air fleet with Western help undoubtedly will enable China's aircraft industry to concentrate on military production. Some aviation authorities regard the Handley Page Herald as a plane that could be turned quite easily to military use.

The Handley Page spokesman emphasized that the Herald is strictly a civil aircraft. He said his firm is now producing a military version of the Herald, but the civil and military versions would be quite different.

Negro Is Given Life Sentence In Stabbing Case

Leroy Wiley, 25, Monore Negro, faces life in prison for stabbing his wife Rosetta to death.

Judge Jesse Heard sentenced Wiley Friday in Fourth District Court, to life in the Louisiana State Penitentiary at Angola.

The Negro pled guilty to a charge of murder without capital punishment. He stabbed his wife after a disagreement Sept. 17.

In other court action, Dennis Johnson, 35, Negro, pled innocent to a charge of committing battery with a pistol on Roosevelt Bosley on December 23. Trial date will be set later.

Betty Ray Taylor, 18, Negro, pled guilty to committing battery with a knife on her boyfriend, Louis Williams, on December 26. She was remanded for pre sentence investigation.

L. E. Emmons, 53, Norphlet, Ark., was fined $300 and court costs or 60 days in the Ouachita Parish jail on a charge of driving while under the influence of intoxicating alcoholic beverages.

Fines of $25 and costs or 10 days were levied on:

Lorenzo V. Delgado, 27, Lincoln, Neb., and Grant Evans, 49, Negro, 910 Lawson St., Ruston, each charged with driving without a license.

Clyde Ellis Bagwell, 19, 410 Coleman, West Monore and Albert Taylor, 40, Route 3, each charged with driving without a chauffeur's license.

Crash Injuries Four; Three Believed Serious

A pick - up truck apparently swerved out of control Friday night on Highway 80 West, about a mile out of West Monroe, and crashed head - on into an approaching automobile. Four persons were listed as injured—three of them seriously.

State police identified two of the occupants of the pick - up —both believed badly hurt — as Helen V. Roberts, 28, the driver, of route one, box 137, West Monroe, and Billy Warrick, 22, of Ruston. Identity of a third passenger, thought to have suffered a broken leg, was not determined last night.

Driver of the car, traveling west on Highway 80 in front of the Caldwell Packing House, was Edgar B. Kinard, 22, 311 Cox St., Louisville, Miss., according to troopers. He appeared to be injured less severely and was brought to the St. Francis Hospital by state police after the other crash victims arrived by Kilpatrick and Hixson Brothers ambulances.

Exact extent of injuries to the pick - up truck occupants was not available last night but Warrick was thought to have sustained a broken leg and the Roberts woman severe lacerations. The possibility of internal injuries had not been ruled out in any of the three cases.

State police said witnesses told them the truck swung out into the oncoming lane and smashed head - on into the car. No reason for the action had been determined and no charges were filed, pending completion of the investigation.

Mrs. Quackenbush was sentenced to eight years imprisonment by the Tokyo district court in the slaying of her husband, Henry Sr., a U. S. Air Force civilian employee, last June. Henry Jr. was sentenced to 5-7 years imprisonment in the slaying. Mrs. Quackenbush was released on bail to await the outcome of their appeal. BERLIN PROBLEM

Adenauer Predicts Negotiations Soon

BONN, Germany (AP) — Chancellor Konrad Adenauer said Friday he is convinced East-West negotiations on the Berlin crisis will take place early in 1962 and no war will break out in the coming year.

The 85-year-old chancellor emphasized West Germany's willingness to enter into negotiations with the Soviet Union and claimed no big difference exists between its attitude and that of the other Western Allies, including France.

Adenauer expressed confidence that Soviet Premier Khrushchev will show caution on his side toward the dangerous Berlin situation for fear that a different policy might bring on an all-out war that would destroy his own country.

"Khrushchev has grasped that he must exercise self-control," Adenauer said.

The chancellor sized up the coming year in an interview with the semiofficial publication, the "Politisch-Soziale Korrespondenz." His answers added up to perhaps the most significant declarations he has made on foreign policy since his recent meetings with President Kennedy and French President Charles de Gaulle.

He said West Germany's objective in negotiating will be to obtain new guarantees for the maintenance of the freedom of Berlin, of free access to it, and the removal of the Communist-built wall now dividing the city.

"Let's be perfectly clear on this," Adenauer said. "It would be best for Berlin and for German reunification if everything were to remain as it has been. But since the Soviets are determined to bring about some new regulation of the situation, it is better to talk with them about it."

Rose Reweds Former Wife

NEW YORK (UPI) — Multimillionaire showman Billy Rose Friday married former showgirl Joyce Matthews for the second time.

It was marriage No. 4 for the 62-year-old Rose and the fifth one for the attractive, 41-year - old blonde.

New York Supreme Court Justice Arthur G. Klein officiated at the quiet ceremony at the Fifth Avenue home of carpet company executive Sol Herzfeld, who served as best man. About a dozen friends and relatives attended the private rites.

Miss Matthews and Rose were married in 1956. However, 37 months later, Miss Matthews obtained a Mexican divorce on charges of incompatibility.

2 Sisters Held Captive Hours, Robbed Of Cash

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Two retired school teachers one 64 and the other 67 were held captive in their home for 18 hours and robbed of $2,052 Friday.

Two men, one armed with a gun, forced their way into the home of the Misses Dorothy and Ruth Frazier Thursday night after asking to use the telephone, the sisters said.

The two men took turns guarding the sisters throughout the night, and Friday forced Dorothy to withdraw $2,000 from a bank under threat of killing her sister.

"They knocked us to the floor" when they forced their way into the house, Dorothy said. "It was frightening. It was one of those situations that you can't believe is happening but realize it. One had a hunting knife and the other a small gun."

The men, both six-footers, demanded to know where the sisters kept their money and were disappointed to learn that there was only $52 in the house.

At noon, Dorothy, 64, was instructed to drive to a branch of the Akron Dime Bank to withdraw the money. The men stayed in the house with the older sister.

"I followed their instructions to the letter," Dorothy said. "I knew a policeman or bank guard at the bank but they said they would kill her if I called police. She is more important than money."

After Dorothy returned, the sisters were locked in the fruit cellar, and it took them two hours to break out.

Publisher Says Tarzan, Jane Properly Wed

NEW YORK (AP)—Tarzan and Jane were indeed properly wed, on Page 313 of a book published in 1915, and before they began living together, Grosset and Dunlap, the publisher, said Friday.

A firm spokesman stepped into a controversy which arose at Downey, Calif., over use of Tarzan books in the library in face of a question raised whether the ape man ever troubled to marry his mate.

The firm said that "Return of Tarzan" carried this passage:

"'Wild beasts are supposed to be devoid of sentiment,' Tarzan said, 'but nevertheless I should like to be married in the cabin where I was born.'

"'Would it be quite regular, dear?' she asked. 'For if it would, I know of no other place in which I should rather be married.'"

"And when they spoke of it to the others, they were assured that it would be quite regular and a most splendid termination of a remarkable romance. So the party assembled to witness the ceremony Prof. Porter was to solemnize within three days."

"Professor Porter," an ordained minister, was Jane's father.

The spokesman added that sales of the book, plus the other eight, "remain quite healthy year after year."

Negro Charged On 3 Forgery Counts By Police

West Monroe police have filed charges against a local Negro woman on three counts of forgery. Monroe officers report that their case against her for the same offense also is drawing to a close.

Warrants have been issued for the arrest of Blanche Lee Jefferson, 28, of 2205 Oak St., who is charged by West Monroe authorities with forging checks for $54.92, $42.07, and $31.52.

A Monroe spokesman, adding that the local phase of the cooperative investigation is not quite wrapped up, said she would be charged with "several" counts of forgery.

The Jefferson woman has been in St. Francis Hospital since Wednesday morning when she was admitted for undisclosed reasons. Authorities say she will be apprehended upon release.

The Patterson boys were sons of Mrs. Thelma Patterson, a sister of Mrs. Moore, who was staying with the children while their mother was in the hospital.

DENY INTERFERENCE

U. S. Repudiates Katanga Charges

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States sharply repudiated Friday as untrue charges by Katanga President Moise Tshombe that U.S. Ambassador Edmund A. Gullion had interfered in Congo peace talks.

The charge was made in a telegram sent by Tshombe to President Kennedy. The reply was issued by the State Department with the full knowledge of the President.

The statement reaffirmed fullest U.S. confidence in Gullion and caled on Tshombe to promptly carry out his agreement to reintegrate breakaway Katanga into the Congo.

Press officer Lincoln White said what he called the false charges against Gullion may be part of a propaganda campaign to justify the repudiation of an agreement reached Dec. 21 at Kitona, between Tshombe and Congo Prime Minister Cyrille Adoula.

At a specially summoned news conference, White read the following statement:

"Katanga provincial President Moishe Tshombe has addressed a telegram to this government in which he repeats a charge made in Brussels today by Evariste Kimba, one of his ministers, that U.S. Ambassador Gullion interfered in talks at Kitona in which Mr. Tshombe agreed to end Katangan secession from the Congo.

"Mr. Tshombe also accuses Ambassador Gullion of urging the United Nations to resume military action against Katanga and makes several other allegations.

"All these charges are untrue.

"Ambassador Gullion was involved in the Kitona talks because Mr. Tshombe appealed to President Kennedy to help halt the fighting in Katanga and arrange a meeting between Mr. Tshombe and Prime Minister Adoula.

"In response to this appeal President Kennedy designated Ambassador Gullion as his special representative to facilitate arrangements for a meeting.

"Because Mr. Tshombe asked for an American guarantee of his personal security in addition to guarantees given by the United Nations, the ambassador escorted Mr. Tshombe to and from Kitona and remained there during the talks.

"At no time did Ambassador Gullion interfere in the negotiations.

"He was consulted by both parties and encouraged them to reach an accord.

"The agreement was freely reached after substantial compromises by both conferees and was personally signed by Mr. Tshombe.

"The charge that Ambassador Gullion has urged further U. S. miltiary action against Katanga is absurd.

"On the contrary, the ambassador and the department have sought to promote an atmosphere of conciliation.

"We earnestly desire to see peace in the Congo; thus we welcomed the Kitona agreement.

"We hope that false charges against Ambassador Gulloin are not part of a propaganda campaign designed to justify denunciation of the Kitona agreement.

"Mr. Tshombe has a great opportunity to contribute to the future peace and stability of Katanga and the Congo.

"We earnestly hope he will seize this opportunity and will move promptly to carry out the Kitona agreement so a start can be made with the rehabilitation of Katanga and its peaceful reintegration into the Congo.

"The United States government continues to repose complete confidence in Ambassador Gullion."

White said that Tshombe's telegram was addressed to President Kennedy and the reply was made with the President's full knowledge.

Oilman Files Suit Asking $2.5 Million

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A Houston oilman filed a $2.5 million civil anti-trust suit against the Phillips Petroleum Co., seven other firms and six individuals Friday.

Robert H. Martin, who filed the suit in federal court in Houston, said the defendants consired to squeeze him out of a deal to buy the Locust Ridge gas field and its producing plant early this year.

The field is in eastern Louisiana and western Mississippi.

He said the deal, as put through without him, gave Phillips control of almost all the production in the field. He said this violated federal antitrust laws.

Martin set his losses at $2.5 million and asked triple damages of $7.5 million. He also asked for $275.000 worth of attorneys' fees.

Martin said he had an option to buy the Locust Ridge field's producing plant, some gas leases and all the stock in two companies.

He said he got the option from George H. Jett of Shreveport, La.

The Houston oilman said he went to the Chemical Bank New York Trust Co. in December, 1960, to arrange financing for the deal. Martin said the bank told him Phillips was one of its largest depositors.

The parties planning the joint purchase met in Houston on Jan 16—the day Martin's option was to expire, the suit said.

The others told him the gas reserves in the field were too low to back a bank loan for his part of the deal, Martin said. His suit claims the defendants deliberately downrated the reserves to squeeze him out.

The suit names Phillips, the New York bank and: Bart de Laat and Associates, Inc., and the Gasoline Plant Construction Corp. both of Houston; the Texas San Juan Oil Corp. and the Jett Drilling Co. Inc., of Dallas, and the Tensas Gas Gathering Corp. and the Texas Industries Management Corp. of Shreveport.

The individuals are Jett; De Laat; James E. Kemp of Dallas; Edward S. Newton, J.S. Edwards Jr. and F. Connor Creigh, all of Shreveport, and officers in Tensas.

Executives in Phillips' Houston office said they could not comment. De Laat said he was involved only as a professional man. The Gasoline Plant Construction Corp. officials would not comment.

Accused Slayer Is Committed To Institution

MINEOLA, N.Y. (UPI) — Mate Ivanov, accused slayer of a Long Island family of five, was committed Friday to a state hospital for the criminal insane.

Ivanov muttered to himself throughout the hearing at which Nassau County Judge Paul J. Widlitz ordered him committed to the Matteawan State Hospital. Widlitz ordered Ivanov confined permanently, or until he is found sane enough to stand trial for murder.

Ivanov, 38, has admitted the bayonet-slayings of his brother-in-law Peter Gregov and Gregov's wife and three children in their Mineola home last Nov. 25.

Raymond L. Wilkes, Ivanov's attorney, agreed to the commitment. He said Ivanov was "completely out of touch with reality and totally incapable of understanding the charges against him."

"He thinks everyone in the world is his enemy and he is searching for a friend," Wilkes said.

Ivanov disappeared after the Thanksgiving weekend slayings but was arrested in Florida Dec. 5. He beached a small boat and claimed to be a refugee from Cuba. Alert immigration service agents were dubious of the story and a subsequent finger print check revealed his true identity.

COTTON

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK (AP) — Cotton futures closed 20 cents a bale higher to 80 cents lower Friday.

A good deal of the trading consisted of evening-up operations, prior to the year-end.

Commission house and New Orleans liquidation brought early declines, but most positions recovered somewhat from the lows on late trade buying and short covering.

There was some switching from nearby March to later months.

Selling was in the new crop positions was attributed to renewed talk of a lower support price for the 1962 cotton crop.
